THE FIT MAN WINS!

This is true in every walk of life. The triumph of physical fitness is apparent everywhere. In the great World of Business and in the Realms of Recreation and Sport success comes to the one who is physically fit. More than ever in the history of the race this great quality counts to-day. Physical fitness—which also carries with it mental alertness and general all-round efficiency—is greatly to be desired. Everybody would like to be fit; everybody, too, needs to be fit, if success is to be won and satisfaction achieved. Life is so much more worth living if it is accompanied by vigorous health. Physical fitness depends more upon the efficient working of the process of digestion than upon anything else. A sound digestion is really at the root of the matter. Any means, therefore, likely to strengthen or maintain this important function is to be heartily welcomed. Beecham's Pills long ago won golden opinions for their splendid work in keeping health right by maintaining a sound and healthy digestive system. They have proved to be an ideal medicine and one which always does good. Although wonderfully efficacious as an aperient, a tonic, and blood-purifying preparation they are perfectly harmless, and are suitable to either sex, young or old. Thousands of busy men and women owe their fitness to

DUBLIN AND DISTRICT.

VOTES OF CONDOLENCE.—At the meeting of the Dublin Corporation yesterday, resolutions of sympathy were passed with Sir Andrew Beattie on the death of his son, Captain Beattie; with Mrs. Ashton, T.C., on the death of her daughter; and with Mr. Magee, T.C., on the death of his son.

ENNISKERRY ROBBERY SEQUEL.—Last week the theft of £117 from Mr. George Bradner, of Cloon, Enniskerry, was reported, and on Saturday morning Mr. Bradner found on his garden wall a box containing all his money, with the exception of £10.

INCREASING BUSINESS AT DUBLIN PORT.—Both sail and steam are alike concerned in the revival of over-sea trading to and from the Port of Dublin at present, and the east end of the Liffey dock accommodation is becoming congested. There are few vacant berths in this vicinity at present, and listed for arrival are several other over-seas freight vessels.

DUBLIN AND SOUTH-EASTERN RAILWAY.—At a meeting of the Westland Row Branch of the National Union of Railwaymen resolutions were adopted congratulating Sir Thomas Esmonde, Bart., on his election as Chairman of the Dublin and South-Eastern Railway Company; and, also, congratulating Mr. John Coghlan, who has retired from the general managership, on his being appointed to the Board of Directors, and Mr. M. J. Maguire on his appointment as general manager of the company.

SHOP-BREAKING CHARGE.—In the Northern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Cooper, K.C., Patrick Murphy, Edward Feeley, and Thomas O'Brien were charged by Detective Sergeants Mahon and Mannion with breaking and entering the shop, 50 Lower Clanbrassil street, on the night of the 26th August, and stealing tobacco and cigarettes valued at £15, and about £5 from three gaming machines, and damaging a door and lock to the extent of 10/-. Evidence having been given by the shopkeeper, accused were remanded in custody for a week.

CITY BURGLARY CHARGE.—In the Northern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Cooper, K.C., three lads—Thomas Farrell, Spa House, Goldenbridge; John Haslam, 69 Emmet road, Inchicore; and Henry Cowan, Cambridge House, Inchicore—were charged on remand by the police with breaking into a shop in Capel street and stealing a brush. They were further charged with loitering in Capel street between three and four in the morning for a supposed unlawful purpose. Mr. R. Greene appeared for all the accused, who were released on their parents' bail.

SHIPPING IMPROVEMENTS AT THE NORTH WALL.—The British and Irish Steam Packet Company has set to work to bring the Liffey side premises of the concern thoroughly up to date. Whole blocks of old premises are at present being demolished with a view to new and more up-to-date buildings and facilities being provided, and during some of these operations the staffs of shipping clerks have been moved into other offices. New steamers are being provided for the Dublin and Liverpool passenger and goods service of the British and Irish Company, and it is understood that quite a reformation in sailing hours will be established when these fast new and Belfast-built steamers come on to the Liffey and Mersey service.

ALLEGED ATTACK ON NIGHT WATCHMEN.—In the Northern Police Court yesterday, before Mr. Cooper, K.C., Charles and Christopher McAuley were charged by Inspector Winters, Store street Police Station, with unlawfully entering the goods yard of the Midland Great Western Railway Co. at North Wall, and being on enclosed premises for an supposed purpose of committing a felony, with three men not in custody, about 12.30 a.m. on the 28th August. They were further charged with committing an aggravated assault on John Bird, a watchman in the employ of the railway company, by presenting what appeared to be a revolver at him. It was alleged that the watchman was knocked down and kicked, and that a blow from a weapon broke his finger. There were further charges of committing aggravated assaults upon James Walsh, another night watchman, and John O'Leary, a porter. The two watchmen, both of whom were bandaged, gave evidence, but could not identify the accused. John O'Leary identified Charles McAuley. Mr. James Brady appeared for the accused, and asked for the discharge of Christopher McAuley, on the ground that there was no evidence against him. Mr. J. W. Davis, for the authorities, asked for a remand till Friday, which was granted, an application for bail being refused.

RATHDOWN UNION.

PROPOSED RETRENCHMENT.

Recently Mr. Cunniam, Clerk to the Rathdown Board of Guardians, supplied a return showing the salaries and emoluments of some 68 officers in the service of the Guardians. The annual sums amount to over £7,320, including war bonuses, which average something under 100 per cent. as compared with the increased cost of living. All the able-bodied adult former inmates of Loughlinstown Workhouse are now boarded out in the Dublin Union, and the officers who managed that part of the Guardians' business have been retired. The aged and infirm inmates remain as patients under the care of the infirmary medical and nursing staff, and their staffs' salaries, together with those of the medical officers, midwives, and caretakers in the eleven dispensary districts, total to nearly £5,900. These officers are not in receipt of war bonus. Five relieving officers receive with war bonus £745. The workhouse doctor (£300 per annum, with no war bonus) and nursing staff and chaplains absorb about £1,500, to £960 odd. The clerical staff's salaries and emoluments amount is made up of the wages and salaries of persons retained by the old Board in various capacities, which the change in the conditions of the workhouse did not affect. The new Board is, however, to be asked to review the existing dispositions by Mr. Powell, P.L.G., Dalkey, who has forwarded a notice to move a resolution in which he submits—"This Union has recently been dissolved, and with such dissolution the greater portion of the work has disappeared; we, therefore, are of opinion that the present large staff of 68 persons is wholly unnecessary, and that all necessary steps should be taken to reduce the number of people employed in proportion to the work done, and try to relieve the ratepayers of the burden they now have to bear."

TOWN TENANTS' LEAGUE.

The weekly meeting of the Central Branch of the All-Ireland Town Tenants' League was held on Thursday evening last at 43 Rutland square, Dublin, Mr. James Slater in the chair. There was a large attendance, including tenants from almost every part of the city and surrounding townships, who came to complain of notices to quit. The demands served in over 80 per cent. of the cases were declared bad, not being in accordance with the Rents Act, and it was decided to communicate with all the owners with the view of having fair rents fixed. Correspondence was read from several landlords and from solicitors acting for others, agreeing to suggestions made by the Town Tenants' League for amicable settlements.

The Committee appointed to fix fair rents met again on Tuesday evening last, Mr. Coghlan Briscoe in the chair. A large number of tenants from Commons street, Park View terrace, East road, on the Martin Estate, and from neighbouring districts, was present. The representatives of the owners and agents of the property were also in attendance. In the Commons street case fair rents were agreed to, and a settlement signed. In reference to the tenants on the Martin Estate, a fair rent was fixed, which was accepted by the tenants, and which the agent undertook to submit for the favourable consideration of the owners.

Over one hundred cases of rent raising on tenement dwellers were reported. Several of the tenants stated that the houses were in a bad condition of dilapidation. It was decided to communicate with the owners and to warn them that the provisions of the Rents Act would be immediately put in force to prevent illegal demands. Satisfaction was expressed at the action taken by the Public Health Committee to compel owners to put insanitary dwellings in repair.

The following contributions were thankfully acknowledged:—Fred Mitchell, Esq., 2/6; Messrs. Flower and McDonald, Ltd., £1.

A Sextoblade
Saves on every Shave

Six Good Blades—one for every morning in the work-a-day-week—and a better-than-the-Barber-shave every time. That's the Sextoblade—the time-saver—the labour-saver—the worry-saver—the money-saver. It simply glides over the face—the most stubborn growth is no obstacle—and the result is a smooth, easy shave without the pull or grip that so often makes shaving a "swearing" for the man with a tender skin.

The Sextoblade razor combines the action of the hollow ground with the immunity of the safety, an ideal arrangement for every self-shaver.

Since its introduction into Ireland hundreds of busy men have adopted the Sextoblade. One and all declare it to be "just the razor I've been longing for."

TOWN TENANTS' LEAGUE.

The weekly meeting of the Central Branch of the All-Ireland Town Tenants' League was held on Thursday evening last at 43 Rutland square, Dublin, Mr. James Slater in the chair. There was a large attendance, including tenants from almost every part of the city and surrounding townships, who came to complain of notices to quit. The demands served in over 80 per cent. of the cases were declared bad, not being in accordance with the Rents Act, and it was decided to communicate with all the owners with the view of having fair rents fixed. Correspondence was read from several landlords and from solicitors acting for others, agreeing to suggestions made by the Town Tenants' League for amicable settlements.

The Committee appointed to fix fair rents met again on Tuesday evening last, Mr. Coghlan Briscoe in the chair. A large number of tenants from Commons street, Park View terrace, East road, on the Martin Estate, and from neighbouring districts, were present. The representatives of the owners and agents of the property were also in attendance. In the Commons street case fair rents were agreed to, and a settlement signed. In reference to the tenants on the Martin Estate, a fair rent was fixed, which was accepted by the tenants, and which the agent undertook to submit for the favourable consideration of the owners.

Over one hundred cases of rent raising on tenement dwellers were reported. Several of the tenants stated that the houses were in a bad condition of dilapidation. It was decided to communicate with the owners and to warn them that the provisions of the Rents Act would be immediately put in force to prevent illegal demands. Satisfaction was expressed at the action taken by the Public Health Committee to compel owners to put insanitary dwellings in repair.

DUBLIN SOCIETY FOR THE PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS (INCORPORATED).

Wilkinson, M.R.C.V.S.; Mr. G. W. Marsh. The minutes of previous meeting were read, confirmed, and signed. The list of convictions obtained during the week in cases already reported was read. Reports on dogs sold and claimed at the Dogs' Home, Grand Canal quay, during the week were submitted.

The following contributions were thankfully acknowledged:—Fred. Mitchell, Esq., 2/6; Messrs. Flower and McDonald, Ltd., £1.

GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND v. PLAYERS.

A strong team of Players gave but a moderate exhibition of batting against the Gentlemen of England in the second of the Scarborough festival matches yesterday. The wicket had been covered, but was erratic in pace, and batsmen appeared to be never really comfortable, and was out to a badly skied hit to mid-off, though Wilson's catch was extremely clever. Russell fighting hard for runs most of the day. Russell and Hearne had a useful partnership for the third wicket before lunch, after Hobbs had made 25 of the first 54 runs for the second wicket. Hobbs was never really comfortable, and was out to a badly skied hit to mid-off, though Wilson's catch was extremely clever. Before lunch the Players scored 120 for 4 wickets. They were occupied an hour and fifty minutes afterwards in adding 99. Hendren and Woolley only made 31 in three-quarters of an hour, and the first named was batting 95 minutes for his 43. Wilson bowled well, and Douglas worked hard as usual, while Stevens, who was only allowed five overs, took two wickets for 15. The Gentlemen fielded admirably, and besides the catch made by Wilson, mention must be made of the catches effected by Chapman at deep square leg and by Stevens at mid-on. The Gentlemen had 55 minutes batting. They lost McIver, who was clean bowled in the first over, and Haig at 30. Thanks to Chapman and Faulkner the Gentlemen finished but 140 behind, with eight wickets in hand. Score:—

GOLF.

IRISH AMATEUR OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

FIRST ROUND MATCHES.

FINE PLAY BY C. B. BRETHERTON AND G. MOORE.

The wind yesterday continued to blow strongly from the North-West, but it was not quite so heavy and troublesome as on Saturday, although there was sufficient weight in it to put to the test the skill of even the most experienced seaside golfer. Fortunately, however, the Portmarnock green was in splendid condition, and the little rain which had fallen during the night, while taking some of the keenness out of the greens, had also a beneficial effect on the fairways. It was a comparatively light afternoon's golf. Nineteen matches were listed in the first round, but the number was reduced by one by the absence of the Lytham and St. Anne's player, J. P. Stableford. Nor was it a very interesting one. Two matches went to the nineteenth, and a few came to an end on the last green; but the majority finished a long way from home. To-day's matches in the second round, however, will probably furnish a different tale.

The match between Carl Bretherton and H. M. Cairnes attracted most of the spectators. It was thought that the Portmarnock player, who is an excellent golfer in every respect, would give the holder a hard game, but such was not to be the case. When only three holes had been played Bretherton had the match as good as won. He was leading by three going to the fourth, and, playing with the greatest confidence, and well within himself, from that on, he never left the issue in doubt. To the first he had not as straight a drive as his opponent, being in the rough on the left, and his approach over-ran the pin. Cairnes hit a lovely second, and was pin high for a possible three, but a certain four; but Bretherton sunk his awkward sloping putt, and Cairnes failed with his. Then to the second the Handsworth man hit a grand tee shot, which pulled up short of the bunker on the left, and, with Cairnes very short with his second, he lost this hole also in 5-4. He fell further behind at the third, where a delightful pitch by Bretherton from the right left him dead at the pin for a three, and Cairnes, who was bunkered over the green from a fine second, which he hit a little too hard from a bad lie on the hillocks to the left, gave up the hole, after barely getting out from the hazard. That practically settled the match, but the Portmarnock man played some fine golf afterwards. His two wooden club shots on to the fourth green—448 yards—were perfectly executed, and enabled him to reduce his arrears, but going to the ninth he was four down. Here, after winning the eighth, he hit two other remarkably good shots with driver and brassey on to the green, to get a hole back, but three down at the turn was a rather uncomfortable position to be in. He ought to have won the tenth, where he missed a putt for the hole; but, although Bretherton took three putts on the eleventh and twelfth, he was able to bring the match to an end on the fifteenth green, where he was four up.

The winner played excellent golf, being out in 38. With his wooden clubs he always outdistanced his rival, and his iron and mashie shots were the acme of crispness and accuracy; while, except on the eleventh and twelfth, his work on the greens was perfect. Obviously, he is all round a better golfer than when he won the championship last year at Portrush, and in his style he has also improved, being much quicker in his movements, except on the greens, where he gets on to his knees to study every putt. But his extreme care in that respect brings its reward. Not as strongly fancied for the championship as Captain Carter, he is certain to run the latter very close, should they meet; anyway, Carter would have to be right on the top of his form to bring about the elimination of the holder.

More brilliant even than Bretherton's play was the golf of Gerald Moore. He had not many spectators with him in his match with Walter Carroll. A keen struggle was, however, expected here, but it was a runaway affair. Carroll never got on to his game, but even had he been in his best form he could scarcely have held the Portmarnock representative. The latter started brilliantly by winning the first three holes in 4 3 3, and for five holes he was 3 under bogey. His driving was powerful, and invariably on the line, and the quality of his golf was reflected in his figures at the turn—4 3 3 5 4 5 3 4 5=36. Here Moore was 6 up, and, taking the tenth in a lovely 3, pitching to within a foot of the pin, and the next in 5, he won 8 and 7. Carroll gave a very disappointing exhibition, but his old-time malady—indifferent putting—again let him down. To-day Moore will have a stiffer match, as he meets Captain Martin, and should he survive the round his chances of further considerable advancement would have to be seriously reckoned with.

One of the best matches of the round eventuated in the defeat of F. E. Davies on the home green. It was a great tussle all the way round, with never more than a hole between him and C. K. West. At the turn they were all square, Davies holing a good putt to save himself at the ninth. He was rather unfortunate in being laid a couple of stymies, but it was a capital match to watch.

The solitary Scottish representative, J. A. Ingram, of Turnhouse, was well beaten by Fergus O'Connor, who was outdriving the Scot, sometimes by as much as thirty yards. O'Connor won the first three holes in 5 4 4, and it was not until the ninth had been played that he lost a hole, and had his lead reduced to three. Eventually he won 6 and 4. One of the best performances of the evening was the victory of R. Manley. Captain Langford was one of the "dark horses" but the Kingstown player was 2 up starting for home, and in pulling the match off by 3 and 2 he did uncommonly well. Another very interesting match was that between H. Phillipson and D. O'Reilly. The latter held the comfortable lead of two holes at the ninth, but Phillipson hung on to him tenaciously, and squared at the 15th. He actually took the lead at the 17th, but lost it on the home green, and suffered defeat at the 19th, where Corbally also won a ding-dong match with G. B. Wright, of Handsworth. J. Gorry was unexpectedly defeated by J. L. Morgan by 3 and 2, but the Kildare golfer, who is one of our strongest championship players, was handicapped by having to play with new clubs, his old set having been lost in the destruction of the Skerries Clubhouse by fire a couple of weeks ago. In his match with O. Waller, A. E. Todd was 1 down at the turn, but got square at the 11th, and, winning the 13th, 14th, and 15th, and halving the 16th, he entered the second round by 3 and 2. In his first championship, J. S. Davis put out an experienced player in A. Babington, and that, too, by the all-convincing score of 5 and 4, and on the last green H. L. Burke got the better of G. Cashel, who hit his approach too hard, and found the hazard over the green. Details:—

MAIL TRAINS STOPPED AND SEARCHED.

Our Waterford Correspondent telegraphs:—The mail train from Dublin to Waterford, arriving here at 11.15 a.m., was stopped yesterday morning at Rathgarogue, near Waterford, on the Dublin and South-Eastern Railway, by armed and masked men. Two mail bags intended for Waterford were seized, after which the raiders disappeared. The train was delayed fifteen minutes.

The Londonderry to Burtonport train was stopped on Saturday for the third time within a week by armed and masked men. The raiders kept the officials in custody at the revolver point while they sorted the mails and seized all official correspondence. These operations lasted almost half an hour, after which the train was allowed to proceed.

Our New Ross Correspondent states:—Yesterday morning the down mail train from Dublin was stopped by two masked and armed men at Rathgarogue, midway between Macmine Junction and Waterford, and four bags of letters were abstracted from the van.

The Youghal to Ardmore mail car, which was "held up" on the outward journey on Sunday, was again stopped on the return journey yesterday evening.

Our Athlone Correspondent says:—Since the recent raid on the Athlone mails, the mails from Dublin and the Curragh are now carried here by aeroplane. The mails are landed at the old aerodrome outside the town, and then carried under heavy military escort to the District Headquarters at Victoria Barracks.

MEETING OF DUBLIN COUNTY AND CITY MAGISTRATES.

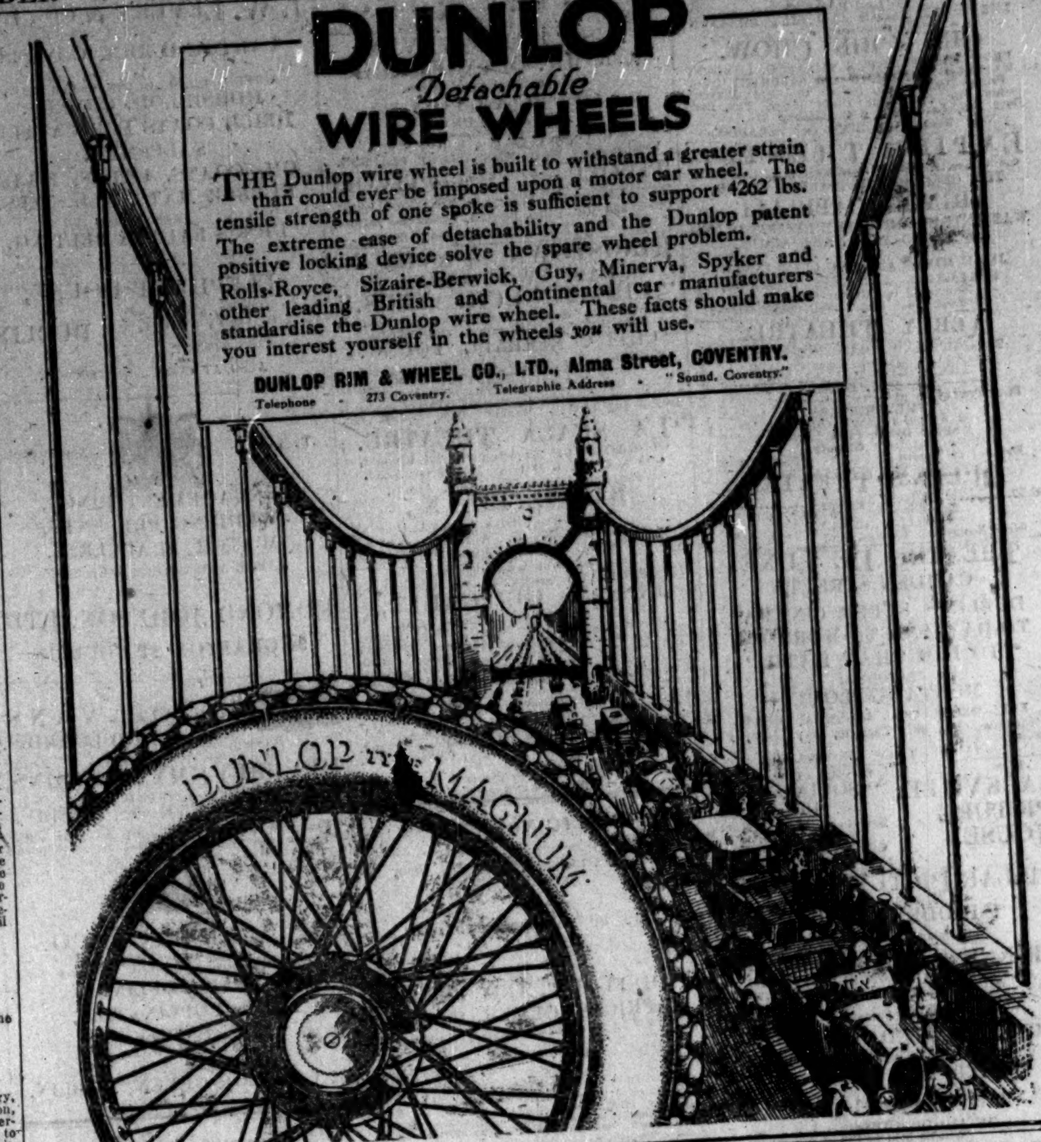
As the outcome of a preliminary meeting of Co. Dublin magistrates, which was held a week ago in the city, a circular letter has been sent to about five hundred Justices of the Peace of the County and City of Dublin, inviting them to attend a meeting to be held in the Gresham Hotel on Thursday next at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The purpose of the conference is to consider the position and duty of magistrates "in view of the complete collapse of Petty Sessions Courts"; and, if so decided, to make a representation to the Government.

ATTEMPT TO OBSTRUCT RAILWAY LINE.

Our Omagh Correspondent states:—It was discovered on Monday that the railway line at Killamnagh, between Omagh and Fintona, had been obstructed by large boulders and pieces of iron, which had been placed in the centre of the track, out of which some of the sleepers had been torn. The obstruction was rapidly cleared, and the train service between Omagh and Enniskillen was not interfered with.

LAWLESSNESS IN COUNTY TYRONE.

Our Omagh Correspondent states:—The Fintona district of County Tyrone is at present in a high state of lawlessness, many farmers' houses being visited by bands of men apparently belonging to no political party, and whose only object appears to be that of robbery. The house of a man named Broderick, of Tattykeel, was visited by one of these bands. A bag was wound around Broderick's head whilst the robbers searched the house, taking away his watch and about £2 in money.



PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

THE GAIETY THEATRE.

Mr. Oscar Asche's resplendent tale of the East is being told at the Gaiety Theatre again this week. In the diversity of its elements—comic, romantic, dramatic, and grim—it makes a universal appeal, whilst the excellently stage-managed spectacular effects in the realistic scenes of the East cannot fail to impress the most blasé theatre-goer. The charm of the music has already gained world-wide recognition, and to hear the orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Maurice Jacobi, is sufficient to warrant a visit to the theatre this week. In addition, the good all-round company includes Mr. Victor Fairley, as the sinister Abu Hassan, or Chu Chin Chow; Miss Nellie Rennie, who makes a dramatic figure of Zahrat Al Kulub; Mr. Frank Norton, a merry wine-bibbing Ali Baba; Miss Hebe Bliss, as Alcolom, fascinating, though married to the crafty Kasim Baba, a character ably represented by Mr. Ivan Firth; Miss Daisy Sedger, as Ali's uncommonly shrewish, but lawful, spouse; Miss Winifred Wellswood, a very winsome and charming Marjanah, and Miss Christine Santanna, who makes short, but diverting, appearances as a black attendant upon Mahbubah. Good, too, is the concerted choral work and dancing of the company.

THE THEATRE ROYAL.

The musical treat provided in the Theatre Royal this week by Miss Zona Vevey and Mr. Max Erard was greatly appreciated by crowded "houses" at both performances last evening. Both artists made a welcome return, and both received, and deservedly so, a rousing reception. Miss Vevey's vocalism was highly pleasing, her choice of songs being delightfully simple. No less acceptable were the items by Mr. Erard on the organ erected on the stage. His playing was a treat of the very best description. He supplied not alone operatic airs, but quite a number of Irish melodies, and the effect was enhanced by the orchestral accompaniments. Du Calion is described on the programme as "the loquacious laddie on the tottering ladder," and the appellation suits him admirably. While he balances himself with consummate ease on an upright ladder, he talks in a most amusing way, and his turn evoked much applause. George Ackroyd (flautist) and Rose Hardy (harpist) provided a novel musical offering, which also met with approbation. Both artists exhibited much skill with their respective instruments. Murtagh, McKenna, and Connolly proved expert Irish dancers; Bert Groves is an exceptional comedian; Frank O'Dell was good in Irish songs, and Guilly and Jeanny were responsible for a pedestal balancing act.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.

Few of the popular Irish melodramas which make their appearance periodically at the Queen's Theatre make so strong an appeal as "Willy Reilly," which is being produced this week. Large audiences attended last evening's performances, and enjoyed to the utmost the thrills and stirring episodes which provide the action of the play. There is all the material which goes to the building up of a story of intense human interest, and the hero's adventures never lack the power of holding attention firmly from start to finish. The impersonation given of him by Mr. R. Carrickford was romantic and inspiriting, and touched with the qualities of chivalry and noble devotedness to the object of his affection. Miss M. Fitzpatrick, as the Colleen Bawn, acted with much impressiveness, and in the affecting scenes, particularly the return of her lover, invested the part with distinction. Sir Robert Whitecraft is a typical specimen of duplicity and knavery, and the portraiture which Mr. P. J. Bourke provided of him was forceful. The parts of Fergus Reilly, Squire Folliard, and Randall O'Donnell had capable representatives in the persons of Mr. Peter McCormac, Mr. Louis O'Connor, and Mr. J. B. Carrickford. The other members of the cast were:—Miss Louise Grafton, Miss Agnes Murnane, and Messrs. William Watters, James Brennan, Tom Byron, Leo Strong, P. J. Carolan, Maurice Dunne, J. O'Reilly, and Shaun Donovan.

THE EMPIRE THEATRE.

There were two large "houses" at the Empire Theatre last night, when a programme in which vocal items, comedy, instrumental music, and eccentric singing and dancing were happily intermingled was received with every mark of popular appreciation. At the head of the bill was Signor Bettino Cappelli, the celebrated Italian tenor, in a number of operatic selections. His singing was clear and sweet, and his selections well suited to his voice. He was accorded an enthusiastic recall. Ferguson and Mack, Transatlantic comedians, evoked a full measure of merriment, while Beaucaire and his Batlers, in a speciality act, introduced some element of novelty. Walton Brothers and Webster, entertainers at the piano, were warmly applauded, as were also June Mills and William Innes, in comedy, songs, and eccentric dancing; Dudley and Gordon, comedians; the O'Ming Trio, in an eccentric juggling act, and Les Trois Cloches, in "the Home of Harmony."

THE TIVOLI THEATRE.

At the Tivoli Theatre this week the programme is one of strong attractiveness and all-round variety, and both performances last evening were patronised by full "houses." One of the most popular artists appearing is Miss Pat. O'Byrne, a Dublin singer, who contributed a number of selections in graceful style, and was rewarded with rounds of applause. Into their comedy sketch, entitled "Hanging a Gate," Oliver and Mack concentrated a good deal of broad and boisterous humour of a Northern flavour, for which the house manifested an unmistakable zest. A very enjoyable "turn" was a musical interlude, "Life's Golden Hour," in which Harry Thornton and Jean Ray took part. The Elliotts, in their syncopated mirth and harmony contribution, won acceptance; and, as an eccentric comedian and acrobat, George Bowden proved himself an entertainer of considerable resource. The bill was supplemented by Pariso and Partner, Fred Grant, and Ernest Tilbury.

PICTURE HOUSES.

BOHEMIAN PICTURE THEATRE.—A well-connected and admirably-illustrated story of stage life, entitled "Spotlight Sadie," formed the chief attraction in the Bohemian Picture Theatre yesterday, when large attendances evinced their enjoyment of the play and the dramatic incidents permeating it. Mae Marsh interpreted the work with artistic ability and enhanced its worth as a moving picture. Comedies were a part of the entertainment, and also Irish events and scenes of interest, while the symphony orchestra, under the direction of M. Blanchard, supplied the music.

CARLTON CINEMA.—An enthralling picture, known as "Quickening Flame," was greatly admired by the spectators at the various performances in the Carlton Cinema yesterday. The story is a romance of love, blackmail, forgiveness, and sacrifice, each of which was graphically depicted by Montague Love and June Elvidge. A series of "The History of the Great War" views received considerable attention, while "Mutt and Jeff" pictures and a good comedy provided the lighter element. Gazette and other selections followed.

THEATRE DE LUXE.—The Theatre De Luxe, which was recently opened in Camden street, was extensively patronised yesterday, and a thoroughly good programme was submitted to well satisfied "houses." The film of the greatest merit in the bill was that in which Montagu Love appeared in the leading rôle in "To Him that Hath," a most interesting narrative, easily followed on the screen, and clearly defined. The photographic work was of a high order, and added greatly to the value of the picture. The remaining subjects all proved popular.

LA SCALA THEATRE.—Yesterday, for the first time in Dublin, a screen version of Joseph Arthur's powerful play "Blue Jean" was shown in La Scala Theatre, where it attracted very large audiences. Viola Dana played the leading rôle in this pictorial drama, which occupies one hour and twenty minutes in its entire production. Not one dull moment mars the fascination of the spectacle, and its reception was an undoubted success. Comedies and travel items were additions to the bill. Mr. John F. West contributed solos during the day. On Thursday, Friday, and Saturday "The Gipsy Trail" will be shown.

THE SACKVILLE PICTURE HOUSE.—"Social Briars," with Mary Miles Minter as leading lady, was the chief film put on the screen in the Sackville Picture House yesterday. It was in much favour with those who went to see it, and was supplemented by Charlie Chaplin, in "Charlie, the Count," and other pictures.

PILLAR PICTURE HOUSE.—Anna Case appeared in "Hidden Truth," a film of a striking nature that was secured for exhibition in the Pillar Picture House yesterday. The comedies and topical scenes were meritorious.

PRINCESS PICTURE HOUSE, RATHMINES.—In the Princess Picture House, Rathmines, yesterday, the cinema actress, May Allison, was seen in the film "A Successful Adventure," which was the principal photo-play on the programme. A full bill was presented.

ROTUNDA PICTURE HOUSE.—"Pirate Gold," with Montague Love in the leading character, was the attraction in the Rotunda Picture House yesterday. An Irish sketch by Cathal McGarvey and Lettie Seelier and varieties were additions.

TOWN HALL, RATHMINES.—The five-act Samuelson production, "In Bondage," was screened in the Town Hall Picture House, Rathmines, yesterday. A strong cast took part, and the film was greatly admired. Other pictures followed.

KINGSTOWN PAVILION.—Clara Kimball Young played the leading part in a delightful comedy drama, "Cheating Cheaters," which was shown in the Kingstown Pavilion last night. It is a very clever "crook" story, which gave full play to Miss Young's charm and talents. A Mack Sennett and a "Winkle" comedy caused great laughter. The music was excellent. On Thursday will be shown "A Trip to Mars," and children should see it.

KINGSTOWN PICTURE HOUSE.—An enjoyable programme was provided at the Kingstown Picture House yesterday, the principal film being a story from Larry Evans's novel, "Once to Every Man," which was a strong tale, full of interest. The usual features, with pleasant music, made up an entertainment in which there were plenty of interest and fun.

DRIED FRUIT INDUSTRY IN WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

Heretofore the dried fruit industry in Australia has been chiefly associated with Renmark (South Australia) and Mildura (Victoria). Recent advices from Western Australia state that in the matter of dried vine fruits the high qualities of soil and climate of that State exhibit themselves as boundlessly, to say the least, as they do in South Australia or Victoria. To learn the truth of that statement (says a despatch to the Agent-General in London) one has only to visit a few of the vineyards along the Middle and Upper Swan River to see the grapes in bearing, the fruit in cases, or upon the drying racks, or in the factories (co-operatively-owned), where the fruit is being graded and cleaned preparatory to being encased for market, both local and overseas. In the way of raisins, lexias, and currants, there is nothing better in the world than comes from the Swan, and, in the opinion of the Minister for Agriculture (Hon. C. F. Baxter), the future holds boundless possibilities for Western Australia's dried fruits, not only in the British markets, but among the teeming millions of the East, in Java, the Straits Settlements, Hong Kong, India, China, and Japan, where there are practically illimitable markets.

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

HIGH PRICE FOR LAMBS.—Lambs fetched the high price of £5 10/- at the September Sheep Fair of Athlone yesterday.

SLIGO COUNCIL'S FUNDS.—Sligo Rural District Council has withdrawn accounts from the bank, and placed the money in the hands of trustees.

STRABANE ASSAULT CASE.—Hugh McNalty was remanded at Strabane, in custody, charged with doing grievously bodily harm to Joseph McCrossan by striking him with a hurley stick. McCrossan is in Lifford Hospital.

MAYOR OF WEXFORD AND THE MAGISTRACY.—When a resolution was submitted to Wexford Corporation, calling on three of its members to resign their Commissions of the Peace, the Mayor (Alderman R. Corish) said that he was not enamoured of the motion, because if they had to conscript a man to be a good Irishman, they might as well leave him alone.

TREACLE SEIZED BY VOLUNTEERS.—Having their suspicions aroused by the roundabout way taken by a cart in the Inishowen district Inishowen Irish Volunteer "Police" held up the driver upon the roadside and examined the contents of the cart. A barrel of treacle for poteen making was discovered. The Volunteers seized the barrel and broke it, destroying the treacle. The driver of the cart was warned not to have any more dealing in poteen.

CHURCH BELLS DEDICATED AT BANBRIDGE.—At an interesting and impressive Service in Seapatrick Parish Church, Banbridge, on Saturday evening, a beautiful chime of ten bells and tower clock, in memory of the late Mr. James White, of Chicago, and his father, the late Mr. John White, of Banbridge, were dedicated by the Bishop of Derry. These are the gift of Mrs. White, Chicago (widow of Mr. James White), and family.

FATAL RAILWAY MISHAP.—A verdict of death from shock and hemorrhage following injuries accidentally sustained, was returned at an inquest in Portrush on Saturday evening on the body of Bernard Mooney (68), a farmer, who was run over by a train at Portstewart Station on the evening of the 2nd inst. The evidence showed that deceased, after alighting, was looking for his ticket and dropped some money on the platform. While stooping to pick up the money he overbalanced and fell between two carriages.

ARMY SEPARATION ALLOWANCES

REVISED RATES FROM OCTOBER.

An Army Order was issued last night containing, under Royal Warrant, revised rates of separation allowances for soldiers' wives and other dependents. The Order states that from the 4th October, 1920, the marriage allowance shall be issued at the rates and under the conditions stated in the schedule. Where the marriage allowance is made the soldier shall be liable to compulsory allotment from his pay. The rates in the schedule are as follows:—For wife, 9s. 6d.; wife with one child, 19s.; wife with two children, 26s. 6d.; wife with three children, 32s. For each additional child 3s. For motherless children—First child, 9s. 6d.; second, 7s. 6d.; third, 5s. 6d. Each additional child, 3s.

As from the 4th April, 1921, the rates of the marriage allowance will vary according to the index figure for the cost of living, as published by the Ministry of Labour.

The rates given in the schedule approximate to the index figure 160. The marriage allowance is not issuable in respect to soldiers in receipt of special rates of pay.

Inflamed Skin

Intense Pain in Both Legs. Couldn't Walk. Speedily Cured by Germolene.

Germolene marks a New Era in Skin and Wound Treatment.

Mrs. Walters, 24, Stewkins, Wordsley, Stourbridge, says:—"I cannot find words to express my gratitude for Germolene: it is truly wonderful how it soothes and heals. About two years ago I began to suffer with a strange tingling and burning in my legs, which soon became intense pain that nothing I tried would relieve. There were red patches all over both legs from the foot to over the knee; in fact, the skin was all inflamed. I couldn't walk with it, and latterly became so ill that I had to lie on a couch all day, unable to move without help. I had been suffering for over a year and was practically helpless when I got Germolene. I had tried so many things in vain that I had almost lost hope, but Germolene was different. It soothed at once, really at once. Very soon the redness and inflammation were gone entirely and all the terrible pain with them, and now my legs are quite well and natural."

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1920.

Telegrams received from Poland and Lithuania are contradictory. Some messages describe the Lithuanian advance as continuing vigorously. Others state that the advance has almost ceased, and that peace negotiations are probable.

Germany has sent a Note to the Entente Powers proposing that a Commission should be appointed to inquire into acts of violence committed against the Germans in Upper Silesia.

Germans railwaymen at Erfurt have "held up" a train with supplies for the French troops in Upper Silesia, and have exploded the cases containing a million of cartridges.

The Indian National Congress, at its meeting on Saturday, severely censured Sir Michael O'Dwyer in connection with the late incidents in the Punjab.

Lord Reading, addressing an international gathering at Plymouth yesterday in connection with the Mayflower Tercentenary, said that America and England would yet be found striving their utmost to uphold the peace of the world.

Presiding at the Trades Union Congress at Portsmouth yesterday, Mr. J. H. Thomas said that the Government should cement the friendship that existed between the British and Irish workers by granting Dominion Home Rule to Ireland.

The doctor in attendance on the hunger-striking prisoners in Cork Jail has received a notice warning him to leave the jail at once and the country within 24 hours.

Trains were stopped yesterday in Waterford, Londonderry, and Wexford.

From the 13th inst. the "Curfew" period will be extended by one hour in Londonderry.

Belfast was again quieter yesterday. Several factories were re-opened, the streets in the vicinity being patrolled during the dinner hour by military patrols. Small parties of soldiers were also stationed in the principal streets.

In London yesterday the Stock Markets were steadier, and the labour position was regarded as having improved. Money was rather tight, and both loan and discount rates were lighter. In Dublin the market was quiet and dull, with Dublin Distillers down to 57s.

The Power of the Purse.

In the times of the "unreformed" Corporation of Dublin we appealed in vain for administrative economies. To-day a Corporation "reformed" by the invasion of Sinn Fein meets the familiar appeal with a reductio ad absurdum. It adopted yesterday a programme of economies which must starve and cripple every department of civic affairs. In a sense, this decision to run the ship under the barest of bare poles is compulsory. The Corporation has defied the Executive Government and has refused to meet its statutory obligations. The Government has retorted by withholding the customary grants from the Local Taxation Account, with the result that in the current year the civic purse finds itself leaner by an amount of some £200,000. The Council proposes to try to "carry on" in these difficult circumstances by means of drastic reductions in most of the city services. £20,000 are deducted from the Paving Committee's estimate, £15,000 from that of the Lighting Committee, and nearly all other departments suffer in proportion. The provision of meals for hungry school children will be stopped. The subsidies to the Dublin Union and Richmond Asylum will be reduced. The Crooksling Sanatorium, the Charles street dispensary, and the Allan Ryan Home will be closed. Finally, twenty-five per cent. of all wages and salaries will be withheld for a period of nine months. The Council was warned yesterday that even these economies could not meet the situation, and that the hardships which are being prepared for the citizens and the self-sacrifice of the municipal staffs must fail to avert civic bankruptcy. In any event, the ratepayers and the poor of Dublin are confronted with a truly lamentable prospect. We credit the City Council with a resolve to grapple earnestly with this problem of its own creation, but it cannot expect to achieve the impossible. Winter is at hand—perhaps, a hard winter which may be accompanied by increasing unemployment. The poor will be the chief victims of the slowing of all the machinery of public charity. The streets will be neglected and even more scantily lighted than at present. The sanitary services will be impaired, and an invitation will be given to epidemic disease at a time when a plague of typhus is advancing steadily through Eastern Europe. Trade will suffer through the general discomfort and despondency and the general failure of all municipal amenities. Such conditions must give an impetus to industrial and political disorders in an hour when all good Irishmen are praying for public peace. These considerations seem to have had no weight at yesterday's meeting; at any rate, they were not raised or discussed there.

The Corporation has assumed a vast responsibility and cannot transfer it to the shoulders of the Irish Government. The Government has done many foolish and stupid things, but the municipal hardships of the coming winter in Dublin cannot be charged to its account. The Dublin Corporation, like many other public bodies throughout the country, has challenged it in a fashion that involves the first principles of British authority in Ireland. The Government's only possible reply to the refusal to recognise claims on account of malicious injuries was a resort to the power of the purse. That is one of the numerous powers which it possesses in the fight that the Republican movement has forced upon it. Irishmen may be Imperialists or they may be Republicans, but all of them who are sensible men must recognise two facts. The first is that this small island—or, rather, three-fourths of it—never can hope to defeat the vast resources of the British Empire in a conflict of either physical or financial force. It is an ingenious island, and it may torment, worry, and infuriate the English Parliament and people, but never will be able to bring them to their knees against their will. The other fact is that ninety per cent. of the loss and suffering of the present conflict is falling directly on the Irish people of all creeds and parties. Loyal Belfast is suffering just as badly as Republican Munster, and every blow that wounds the one wounds the other. The campaign of murder, the raids for arms, the reprisals in North and South inflict deep injury on Ireland's name and material welfare, but cause no multitude of Englishmen to lie awake of nights. The new movement against the authority of the Local Government Board will give no serious anxiety to the British Treasury—which will meet it with some technical readjustment of office work—but threatens to plunge this country into administrative chaos. If it is carried to its logical conclusion, unemployment and poverty will increase by leaps and bounds, and life will be made as unhappy for the most high-souled Republican as for the most hardened Unionist. No victory, political or moral, ever will be won through injuries inflicted by Irishmen on Irishmen. The two essential conditions of Irish peace are that it shall be the outcome of an imperial partnership and that it shall be founded on a basis of Irish unity. Till that fact is recognised Ireland will continue to be the architect of her own misfortunes.

The Lebanon.

Two events of at least historical interest took place last week in that most historic of all lands that lies between Aleppo and Arabia Petraea. In the first place, General Gouraud, the French High Commissioner for Syria, proclaimed Great Lebanon a State. The ceremony, which is said to have taken place in the presence of an enormous and enthusiastic crowd of Lebanonites, was held at Beyrout, which will in future be the capital. The national flag will be the French tricolour, with a cedar tree on the central white panel. Bounded on the north by a line running through Zahr el Khazib, the highest peak of the Libanos range, on the east by the Antilibanos, on the west by the sea, and the south by the northern boundary of Palestine, the whole area of the new State will not be much more than a thousand square miles in extent. The population will be, perhaps, half a million, but what it lacks in quantity will be more than supplied by variety. At least six creeds appear to be prominently represented. The Maronites easily preponderate; then come Orthodox Greek, Druses, Catholic Greek, Mahommedans, and a sprinkling of other Christians of different persuasions. Before 1860 the Druses and Maronites kept up a chronic and blood-thirsty feud with each other, but since that year, which was memorable for a final massacre of Maronites by Druses and Turks combined, this particular feud has ceased. The Druses have withdrawn gradually eastward to the Haurun, where they reign supreme. Beyond the fact that they remained for centuries an oasis of Christianity in a desert of Mahommedanism, it cannot be said that the Lebanonites have played a prominent part in history. The natives, like all mountaineers, are physically fine and hardy, and, like all mountaineers, are always ready to drop the reaping hook for the goad for the rifle and knife. When at peace they raise cattle, grain, and silk worms, for the mulberry tree grows to perfection on the sunny slopes of the mountains. Valuable mineral deposits are believed to exist, but never have been developed. Though the cedars of Lebanon are famous in song and story, the country is not well wooded and has few forests. These consist, not of cedars, of which only a few groves exist, but of cypresses. A cynic might declare that Lebanon is precisely the sort of State which a Congress of Powers would carve out with a view to ensuring a maximum of trouble in the future. Indeed, the only reason for supposing that Great Lebanon will continue to be peaceable is the fact that it is under the sole control of France. Even so, it is little likely that the appointed boundaries will satisfy either those within them or those outside, and France's administrators in these parts doubtless will find plenty to do for some years to come.

The other event of historical interest is the beginning by the British School of Archæology in Jerusalem of the task of excavating the famous Crusader City of Ascalon. One of the five cities of the Philistines, and later, like most of the adjoining seaports, subject to the sway of Macedon, Egypt, and Syria, it remained a part of the declining Roman Empire until the coming of the Saracens. It was not until the close of the eleventh century that the name of Ascalon was heard of in the mouths of half the Western World. In 1099 the Christian hosts gained their first and greatest victory over Islam on the plains outside its walls. Ascalon soon fell to the infidel once more, and was not again captured by the armies of the Cross for a century. A second time it fell to the Turks, and, on this occasion, permanently. It had never been a place of importance, and, like many other things for which men have ceased to fight, it lapsed into insignificance. Its excavation may add to our archæological lore, but the problem why men war with one another, and why the cities for which nobody fights crumble most quickly to decay, will remain unsolved.

Tanks.

Ever since the Armistice, although their politicians have been loud in their advocacy of disarmament, France, Great Britain, and America have been carrying out important naval and military experiments. None of the weapons of war born of the great struggle in France offers wider scope for development than the tank. The ultimate aim of the military experts is to be able to substitute tanks for cavalry in modern warfare. The idea is ambitious, but France and America are believed to have achieved highly important results from their experiments. Great Britain, naturally, has not been idle, and, while the strictest secrecy is being maintained, our tank experts are said to be greatly pleased with the results of their efforts. For a time the tank was virtually supreme, because the Germans had nothing with which to oppose it. Now, however, various anti-tank devices have been discovered, with the result that the original form of tank soon will be as obsolete as its prototype—the Roman testudo. That Great Britain is keeping in the forefront of military progress is a comforting thought. For a few dizzy months after the Armistice men's minds were exalted by the sense of victory, and they allowed themselves to believe that war was a thing of the past. To-day, however, illusions are at a discount, and the inevitable reaction has begun. The rush of the United States for naval supremacy is one sign of the world's return to the old ideas. The activity of Europe's War Offices is another.

Dull Drama.

What is the matter with the modern theatre? Mr. Henry Arthur Jones blames the repertory theatres for their choice of plays. Only the Birmingham Repertory Theatre, he writes, in a letter to The Times, has survived and succeeded, because it alone has produced popular plays. According to Mr. Jones, the "high-brow" dramatists have driven the theatre-going public into the arms of revue. The public revels in a good play—witness, for instance, the great success of Mr. John Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln"; but it will not tolerate the morbid rubbish which is of interest, no doubt, to students of pathology, but sends the average man to bed with a sick headache. Eccentricity and perversity are poor substitutes for real dramatic power, and until our playwrights stop trying to bewilder us, and condescend once more to interest or amuse us, the "legitimate" stage will not regain its hold on the affections of the British public. Until the imagistes and other cranks make way for less pretentious and more human dramatists, the men and women whose forbears paid homage to Mrs. Siddons will continue to applaud the luscious smiles of Mary Pickford and to drown their finer feelings in the froth of exotic revues.

THE COAL CRISIS.

SUGGESTED COURTS OF INQUIRY

ATTITUDE OF THE MINERS' LEADERS.

The Press Association learns that feelers are being put out to ascertain the Government's attitude in regard to the possibility of setting up two impartial tribunals to sift the whole of the evidence of the two parties to the coal dispute. One of these tribunals, it is suggested, might be the Industrial Court, under the presidency of Lord Shaw, which would sit in public and hear the miners' case in regard to wages and conditions of work. The proposal depends upon the consent of the miners' leaders to separate their claims and agree to the question of the price of household coal going before another tribunal. Several Labour leaders who are seeking a peaceful settlement are suggesting that if the miners would remove the "one and indivisible" claim obstacle the procedure and personnel of the two Courts of Inquiry could be decided upon by the Government in consultation with the miners.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS AND THE SITUATION.

There were no developments yesterday in Portsmouth in connection with the coal crisis, and the opening day of the Trades Union Congress passed without any reference to the subject. The Parliamentary Committee's report is being considered to-day, and it is possible that a discussion on the miners' demands will be raised. No arrangements so far have been made for a meeting of the Miners' Executive or another delegate conference. This is regarded as an indication that the situation is unchanged. The only clear point that has emerged is that the miners' leaders are opposed to the submission of their claims to an Industrial Court or other tribunal. They are showing no inclination to drop the demand for the reduction in the price of domestic coal. If the Congress does not make any move this week the expectation is that the Triple Alliance will become active on the return of Labour leaders to London next week.

Sir John Tudor Walters, M.P., Paymaster-General, is visiting parts of Yorkshire in order to report to the Government on the situation which may arise as the result of the threatened coal strike, and on the measures to be taken to reduce the inevitable loss and suffering to the public. Major L. C. Tyron, M.P., Parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry of Pensions, is visiting London and the Home Counties area for the same purpose.

THE ENGLISH PRINTING DISPUTE.

Further negotiations took place at the Ministry of Labour yesterday in connection with the unauthorised strike of printers in Manchester and Liverpool. The Council of the Master Printers' Federation sat in private for an hour, after which the Joint Industrial Council for the Printing Trades met. The proceedings were private, and promised to continue to a late hour.

The situation at Manchester and Liverpool remains unchanged. Two evening papers in Liverpool—the Echo and Express—are issuing manifold typewritten sheets in large numbers.

The Federation of Printing and Kindred Trades last night issued a manifesto approved by the Joint Industrial Council. In this the workers' panel of the Council express deep regret at the difficulties created through the disloyal action of the Manchester and Liverpool Typographical Branches, who, in refusing to carry out the instructions of their association, are doing much to discredit the authority of that body. Their attitude, the manifesto says, is not approved by the Executive of the Typographical Association or by any other of the unions catering from other sections of the trade, who view the strike as being an action of peculiar indifference to the interests of others. Being firmly convinced of the advantages of collective bargaining and of the great importance of honourably abiding by whatever decisions are arrived at through the democratic method of balloting, the members of the workers' panel feel compelled to protest against the action of the branches referred to, and to accord to the Typographical Association whatever assistance can be given towards re-establishing its control in the interests of the membership.

The meeting of the Joint Industrial Council last evening lasted for seven hours. At the conclusion the following official statement was issued on behalf of the parties by Mr. A. E. Goodwin, Secretary, Master Printers' Federation:—"After a lengthy sitting the Joint Industrial Council of the Printing and Allied Trades arrived at the following resolution: 'That this Joint Industrial Council regrets that the Typographical Association is unable to give adequate assurance that their Association will take satisfactory steps to terminate the dispute at Manchester and Liverpool. This creates grave difficulties for both sides of the Council. This Joint Industrial Council urges the representatives of the trades unions to take immediate and effective steps to bring the dispute to an end, and also to help in producing work for Manchester and Liverpool.'"

The Press Association understands that the Executive Council of the Typographical Association have arranged to meet the labour panel of the Joint Industrial Council for the Printing and Allied Trade at Portsmouth at 11.30 on Wednesday morning in regard to the dispute.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

The Prime Minister is expected back in London on Thursday, and he is thus bringing his holiday to a close much sooner than was expected. He was to leave the Riffel Alp this afternoon, and will travel right through to London. Lord Curzon is expected back in London at the same time, and probably a Cabinet meeting will take place as soon as possible. It is understood that some most important matters are to be decided, and it may be certain that steps will be taken in view of the coal strike threat. The Prime Minister may play a part in the negotiations that may come about with regard to this matter, but it is generally hoped that there will be no more compromising and patching up, leaving the real issue to be settled another day. The miners' leaders are aiming at a strike for political reasons, and, if the challenge is avoided or postponed, it will mean only another period of strain and unrest later on.

Sir Robert Horne's offer to the miners that he will, if they so desire, set up an Industrial Court composed of men representing the employers and workmen in the coal industry, and that the Government would gladly accept the judgment of such a tribunal, has made a deep impression on workers generally. Mr. Smillie, however, does not seem to be much impressed, for he will not part from his claim that increased wages and a decrease in the price of coal must stand together. At the same time, this offer by the Board of Trade is a distinct advance, and one that should not be ignored by the miners. If the Industrial Court found the claim for more wages was a just one, the men would get them and the country would accept the decision.

Some important, though unofficial, agencies are said to be at work trying to bring about an understanding between the Government and the miners, and it is hoped that, after all, the miners' leaders may be induced to drop the decrease in the price of coal claim, thus leaving the advance in wages claim open for negotiation. If these efforts could only prove successful, and a satisfactory solution to the wages question be found, it is likely that the other question would be dropped. The miner, who would have to be consulted by ballot on any new terms that might be agreed upon, would scarcely be likely to vote for a strike to take 14s. 2d. off other people's coal, while he would be inflicting suffering and unemployment upon himself, his family, and other workers.

The members of the Trade Union Congress are said to be generally of the opinion that intervention on their part is not yet called for in the coal trouble. Many of them think that they can serve the cause of peace best by keeping quiet, and letting the Government and the miners find their own way out of the present difficult position. This is regarded in some quarters as a very hopeful sign, because it is thought that the Congress members are of opinion that their intervention will not be called for, seeing that the two parties are likely to come to terms themselves.

It would be interesting to know what the average miner in this country would say if he were told that his present output of coal per man is lower than that of any other coal-mining industry in the world. The Pall Mall Gazette to-day says that a man who deals in coal in New Zealand remarks that, although the miners there are paid about the same wage as the Welsh miner now gets, yet the New Zealander brings double the coal to the surface. The New Zealand coal is a little easier to cut, but it does not make a difference of fifty per cent.

The miner in this country is probably quite unaware of the anxiety his action is causing away in France and Italy. Both countries are extremely short of coal, and the stoppage of supplies from Great Britain will entail severe suffering on the working classes and poor people generally. Coal is very costly, and it is mostly used for industries. Austria would also be affected, though she gets but little coal now. It is clear, however, that, if there is a coal strike here, suffering will be experienced not only by the working classes, but by many thousands of workers in other countries.

The Lord Mayor of Cork still lies in a precarious condition, and it is surprising that he is able to hold out so long. The Trade Union Congress at Portsmouth to-day sent a demand to the Government couched in rather threatening terms, but it seems to be of no effect. Evidently the Government are determined that there shall be no release, and, seeing that they have counted the cost, nothing can be done. This seems to be recognised, for the appeals for the Lord Mayor's release are growing fewer day by day. There is much sympathy with the family of the Lord Mayor, particularly with his wife and sister, who have had to suffer so bitterly for so long.

Rapid progress has been made during the past few months with the Coalition Liberal organisation, and, following on the setting up of Advisory Committees of the Liberal supporters of the Prime Minister in various areas, steps will now be taken to make the headquarters organisation more thoroughly efficient in order that the increased demands of the Coalition Liberals in the country may be met. Thus, the headquarters will be moved in the course of the next few days to a house in Old Queen street, a handsome modern building, which will accommodate all the members of the political and organising staffs having offices in London. The organisations for women will be included.

The middle-class housewife will begin to think that the golden age is dawning, for it is rumoured that domestic servants are now looking for homes for the winter. Hitherto they have refused to "live in," because they preferred to have their evenings to themselves. Now they are finding that the cost of food and fuel is so high that they will do better by living in during the winter months. Domestic service is now one of the best occupations for young women. A good general servant can easily get from £30 to £40 a year, with a most comfortable home, good food, and abundant outings. Therefore, it is not surprising that many of the women now out of work after having been employed in offices, are looking for a suitable post as a domestic servant.

The employment of women as servants in the West End clubs is giving rise to much discussion. These women were engaged during the war to act as waitresses, etc., and they have done their work remarkably well. Now club committees are getting worried by the appeals made by Lord Haig and others on behalf of the unemployed ex-service man. A situation in a good club is regarded generally as being desirable, and there are scores, possibly hundreds, of delicate men affected by Army service who would be only too glad to secure such a post. In some clubs these men are already replacing women, but there are still many women employed, even the service clubs retaining a number.

THE GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY.

DUNDALK TO ENNISKILLEN BRANCH.

Nothing definite is known in Dundalk (says the Belfast Telegraph) about the rumour to the effect that it is the intention of the Great Northern Railway Company to close the line from Dundalk to Enniskillen.

It would appear that owing to suspensions consequent on the refusal to handle munitions, etc., this service is considerably handicapped. Up till the present a large number of drivers have been involved, and the opinion in railway circles is that any additional suspension would mean a further curtailment of the service, not only on this particular section, but over the whole line.

GREAT SOUTHERN AND WESTERN RAILWAY.

At a meeting of the directors of the Great Southern and Western Railway held on Friday, Mr. Timothy M. Healy, K.C., was co-opted a member of the Board, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mr. Nicholas J. Synnott.

TERCENTENARY OF THE MAYFLOWER.

LORD READING AND ANGLO-AMERICAN IDEALS.

YESTERDAY'S CELEBRATIONS AT PLYMOUTH.

The celebrations in connection with the tercentenary of the sailing of the Mayflower were continued in Plymouth yesterday. All schools and many businesses were closed, and a general holiday was observed.

In the morning there was the opening by Lord Reading of the Mayflower Sailors' Hostel. In a speech of warm appreciation of the services rendered to the Empire and the world by the mercantile marine during the war, Lord Reading caused some astonishment when he stated that his sincere sympathy for seamen came from that knowledge of the dangers and hardships of their life acquired when he himself as a boy was a sailor before the mast.

The Bishop of Exeter performed the dedication ceremony.

Sir Charles Tarring, on behalf of the British and Foreign Seamen's Society, presented the Mayor with a small bust of Nelson in recognition of his devoted work for the seamen.

A similar ceremony was gone through at the Sailors' Home in Vauxhall street. Lord Reading again performed the opening, and Rev. Dr. Scott Lidgett, Free Church Council, offered the dedicatory prayers. Close at hand is the site of the new Salvation Army Mayflower Hall, and there was next a very large gathering there for the ceremonial of stone-laying. Five stones were laid after a brief service. The American Ambassador's stone was laid by Mr. J. Butler Wright, Charge d'Affaires; the Lord Chief Justice's stone by the Earl of Reading, the Plymouth Members' stone by Lady Astor, M.P.; the American Club stone by Mr. F. E. Powell, President of the American Club in England, the Salvation Army stone by Commander J. Higgins.

LUNCHEON IN THE GUILDHALL.

Next came a luncheon at which the English-speaking Union entertained the Mayor and the whole of the Corporation of Plymouth, the Recorder, Mr. J. A. Hawke, K.C.; Sir Arthur Shirley Benn, Lady Astor, M.P., and a large number of other eminent persons, the whole totalling about 300

Proposing the toast of "The Mayor, Corporation, and People of Plymouth," he congratulated them on the great part they had played in the tercentenary. The English-Speaking Union and all who valued Anglo-American relations could not but be grateful to them for their efforts.

The Mayor of Plymouth, who had an enthusiastic reception, said that he had been heartily supported by the Corporation and people, and in all they did they had but one idea—viz., to assist, if only in the slightest degree, in the cementing of those bonds which would bind the relationships of the English-speaking peoples into a closer and ever-strengthening union.

The next item was an interesting ceremony on the Mayflower Stone on the Barbican (fish quay), which commemorates the spot from which the Pilgrims departed. In 1917 the late Dr. Walter Hines Page, American Ambassador, visited Plymouth just after the official entry of America into the war, and being free to speak for the first time voiced the real American opinion and feelings regarding the war and Britain's part therein. He was not even officially censured for this utterance, which was indeed published and circulated in book form. He was made a Freeman of Plymouth on the spot, and it was decided to enclose the certificate in a silver casket owing to his lamented death. Yesterday was the first suitable occasion for its presentation, and it was handed by the Mayor to the American Chargé d'Affaires for conveyance to Mrs. Page. Lady Astor at the same time handed to the Mayor for preservation in the Corporation museum a specially printed and bound copy of the famous speech. There was a series of brief addresses. Then the casket, which took the form of a magnificent silver model of the Mayflower, in a glass case, was mounted on a miniature carriage, draped with the national banners, and drawn by eight stalwart bluejackets, headed a procession of the Mayor, Corporation, Bishops of both Churches, and the international visitors, which marched through crowded streets to the historic Hoe, where there were pageantry processions in the presence of many thousands of persons.

LORD READING AND AMERICA.

In the early evening there was an enormous gathering at the international meeting in the Guildhall, under the auspices of the English-Speaking Union.

Lord Reading, who had a warm reception, told again the familiar story of the Pilgrims. The Pilgrims, he said, represented the spirit of England. They carried it to America, and carried it to such purpose that to-day they had a population of a hundred millions, composed of different races, but all enjoying that liberty and freedom that the Pilgrims set out to acquire and establish. When they celebrated there that day events of 200 years ago they might ask, "Is England changed?" The answer had been given during the last six years. When called upon to defend her liberty England made her response, which would ever be to her a crown of glory. (Cheers.) Those same characteristics that animated the Pilgrims were alive to-day, as they were alive then. The same characteristics dominated the American people when once they had decided to throw off neutrality, and to take their place by our side in the fight for freedom. With regard to the future, it was not for us even to express any opinion upon what America would do when she had emerged from the turbulence and disputes now raging in her own country. They understood their own affairs, and were great masters of liberty. He knew enough of America to say that so long as she could strike a blow, and so long as she could maintain, uphold, and spread liberty, she would never be found backward in assisting those who might require assistance. (Applause.) There were still troubles in some parts of the world and some fighting, but they were the reverberations of that human volcanic eruption which took place over the whole world, and a speedy settlement was not to be expected. Then men and women during the war both on the fronts and in the workshops rose to a supreme height of unselfishness. He could not believe that that spirit would be speedily washed out, and when the moment came they would find the Empire true to itself, as were those who sailed in the Mayflower, and those who descended from the Mayflower. As time and science progressed the waters of the great Atlantic were narrowed by the education and interchange of ideas of the two countries. He fervently hoped and believed that America and England would be joined together with faith in a high cause, and holding to that course with tenacity, even though death might come. (Loud cheers.)

At night a banquet was given at the Assembly Rooms by the Mayor.

THE KING AND WORLD RECONSTRUCTION.

At a banquet given last night by the Mayor to visitors from overseas and to various Government personages, his Worship read the following reply from the King in response to a message sent him earlier in the day by the Mayor and Corporation:—"The King has received with satisfaction the message of loyal greeting from the inhabitants of the Borough of Plymouth and representatives of the United States of America, France, Holland, and Switzerland on the occasion of the tercentenary of the sailing of the Mayflower with the Pilgrim Fathers. In assuring you of his heartfelt sympathy with those who have united to commemorate that event in the history of the American and English nations, His Majesty wishes to repeat his fervent hope that the problems arising out of the reconstruction of the world may be solved in a spirit of mutual forbearance and understanding to the advantage of the English-speaking peoples."

MESSAGE FROM THE PREMIER.

Later the following telegram was received from the Prime Minister:—"Please give my greetings and welcome to the American visitors to Plymouth. The spirit which led to the success of the Pilgrim settlements three centuries ago has lain at the root of much that is best both in British and in American life. It is just as much needed now. I, therefore, hope that the present celebrations will serve in the minds of the modern world the ideals for which the Puritan Fathers stood so steadfastly. I am sure they will strengthen the recognition on both sides of the Atlantic of some of the finer strands which the Pilgrims have woven into our common civilisation."

EXCITING INCIDENT AT AMERICAN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

A Press Association telegram, dated Forest Hills (New York), Monday, says:—W. T. Tilden to-day won the National Tennis Championship, defeating W. M. Johnston, 6-1, 1-6, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3. Two aviators were killed while the finals were in progress. They had been flying a naval aeroplane over the courts, in full view of the crowd, when the engine suddenly stopped, and the 'plane plunged to the ground on the further side of the railway line running near the courts.

Close at hand is the site of the new Salvation Army Mayflower Hall, and there was next a very large gathering there for the ceremonial of stone-laying. Five stones were laid after a brief service. The American Ambassador's stone was laid by Mr. J. Butler Wright, Charge d'Affaires; the Lord Chief Justice's stone by the Earl of Reading, the Plymouth Members' stone by Lady Astor, M.P.; the American Club stone by Mr. F. E. Powell, President of the American Club in England, the Salvation Army stone by Commander J. Higgins.

LUNCHEON IN THE GUILDHALL.

Next came a luncheon at which the English-Speaking Union entertained the Mayor and the whole of the Corporation of Plymouth, the Recorder, Mr. J. A. Hawke, K.C.; Sir Arthur Shirley Benn, Lady Astor, M.P., and a large number of other eminent persons, the whole totalling about 300.

Proposing the toast of "The Mayor, Corporation, and People of Plymouth," he congratulated them on the great part they had played in the tercentenary. The English-Speaking Union and all who valued Anglo-American relations could not but be grateful to them for their efforts.

The Mayor of Plymouth, who had an enthusiastic reception, said that he had been heartily supported by the Corporation and people, and in all they did they had but one idea—viz., to assist, if only in the slightest degree, in the cementing of those bonds which would bind the relationships of the English-speaking peoples into a closer and ever-strengthening union.

The next item was an interesting ceremony on the Mayflower Stone on the Barbican (fish quay), which commemorates the spot from which the Pilgrims departed. In 1917 the late Dr. Walter Hines Page, American Ambassador, visited Plymouth just after the official entry of America into the war, and being free to speak for the first time voiced the real American opinion and feelings regarding the war and Britain's part therein. He was not even officially censured for this utterance, which was indeed published and circulated in book form. He was made a Freeman of Plymouth on the spot, and it was decided to enclose the certificate in a silver casket owing to his lamented death. Yesterday was the first suitable occasion for its presentation, and it was handed by the Mayor to the American Chargé d'Affaires for conveyance to Mrs. Page. Lady Astor at the same time handed to the Mayor for preservation in the Corporation museum a specially printed and bound copy of the famous speech. There was a series of brief addresses. Then the casket, which took the form of a magnificent silver model of the Mayflower, in a glass case, was mounted on a miniature carriage, draped with the national banners, and drawn by eight stalwart bluejackets, headed by a procession of the Mayor, Corporation, Bishops of both Churches, and the international visitors, which marched through crowded streets to the historic Hoe, where there were pageantry processions in the presence of many thousands of persons.

LORD READING AND AMERICA.

In the early evening there was an enormous gathering at the international meeting in the Guildhall, under the auspices of the English-Speaking Union.

Lord Reading, who had a warm reception, told again the familiar story of the Pilgrims. The Pilgrims, he said, represented the spirit of England. They carried it to America, and carried it to such purpose that to-day they had a population of a hundred millions, composed of different races, but all enjoying that liberty and freedom that the Pilgrims set out to acquire and establish. When they celebrated there that day events of 200 years ago they might ask, "Is England changed?" The answer had been given during the last six years. When called upon to defend her liberty England made her response, which would ever be to her a crown of glory. (Cheers.) Those same characteristics that animated the Pilgrims were alive to-day, as they were alive then. The same characteristics dominated the American people when once they had decided to throw off neutrality, and to take their place by our side in the fight for freedom. With regard to the future, it was not for us even to express any opinion upon what America would do when she had emerged from the turbulence and disputes now raging in her own country. They understood their own affairs, and were great masters of liberty. He knew enough of America to say that so long as she could strike a blow, and so long as she could maintain, uphold, and spread liberty, she would never be found backward in assisting those who might require assistance. (Applause.) There were still troubles in some parts of the world and some fighting, but they were the reverberations of that human volcanic eruption which took place over the whole world, and a speedy settlement was not to be expected. Then men and women during the war both on the fronts and in the workshops rose to a supreme height of unselfishness. He could not believe that that spirit would be speedily washed out, and when the moment came they would find the Empire true to itself, as were those who sailed in the Mayflower, and those who descended from the Mayflower. As time and science progressed the waters of the great Atlantic were narrowed by the education and interchange of ideas of the two countries. He fervently hoped and believed that America and England would be joined together with faith in a high cause, and holding to that course with tenacity, even though death might come. (Loud cheers.)

At night a banquet was given at the Assembly Rooms by the Mayor.

THE KING AND WORLD RECONSTRUCTION.

At a banquet given last night by the Mayor to visitors from overseas and to various Government personages, his Worship read the following reply from the King in response to a message sent him earlier in the day by the Mayor and Corporation:—"The King has received with satisfaction the message of loyal greeting from the inhabitants of the Borough of Plymouth and representatives of the United States of America, France, Holland, and Switzerland on the occasion of the tercentenary of the sailing of the Mayflower with the Pilgrim Fathers. In assuring you of his heartfelt sympathy with those who have united to commemorate that event in the history of the American and English nations, His Majesty wishes to repeat his fervent hope that the problems arising out of the reconstruction of the world may be solved in a spirit of mutual forbearance and understanding to the advantage of the English-speaking peoples."

MESSAGE FROM THE PREMIER.

Later the following telegram was received from the Prime Minister:—"Please give my greetings and welcome to the American visitors to Plymouth. The spirit which led to the success of the Pilgrim settlements three centuries ago has lain at the root of much that is best both in British and in American life. It is just as much needed now. I, therefore, hope that the present celebrations will serve in the minds of the modern world the ideals for which the Puritan Fathers stood so steadfastly. I am sure they will strengthen the recognition on both sides of the Atlantic of some of the finer strands which the Pilgrims have woven into our common civilisation."

The death occurred yesterday at Strabane of Mr. William Wilson, D.L., of the firm of Messrs. Wilson and Simms, solicitors. In 1895 he contested North Tyrone as the Unionist candidate. The funeral took place yesterday at the Society of Friends' burial place, Moate, of Mr. Edward Wakefield, J.P., of Farnagh, Moate. He was an extensive landholder, and one of the largest cattle shippers in the country. Two years ago he was High Sheriff for Westmeath.

EXCITING INCIDENT AT AMERICAN TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

A Press Association telegram, dated Forest Hills (New York), Monday, says:—W. T. Tilden to-day won the National Tennis Championship, defeating W. M. Johnston, 6-1, 1-6, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3. Two aviators were killed while the finals were in progress. They had been flying a naval aeroplane over the courts, in full view of the crowd, when the engine suddenly stopped, and the 'plane plunged to the ground on the further side of the railway line running near the courts.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

TRADE UNIONS, PEACE, AND DEMOCRACY.

The Times devotes a leading article to an analysis of the Presidential address delivered by Mr. J. H. Thomas at the opening of the Trades Union Congress, in which it points out that, if there is to be peace, something more than a negative attitude is required. There must be a positive desire for peace, the article continues. Absence of a desire to fight for the sake of fighting, which he attributed—no doubt rightly—to the workers, is not enough. Very few persons want to fight for the sake of fighting; there is generally an object. But fighting is inevitable if persons who desire something are always ready to use force, or threats, to secure it. And it cannot be denied that large sections of workmen have been, and are, excessively ready to take this course. The cry of "Down tools" is raised the moment they encounter any obstacle to their wishes. They show an irrepressible pugnacity not only against employers and the Government, but sometimes also against one another. What these peace-loving fighters really demand is the submission of other wills to their own. But that is not peace; it is oppression. Aggressors always accuse those who offer any resistance to their will of "forcing" them to fight. It is the regular formula. We heard it often enough from Germany in the war. It was the burthen of their cry, and it has done duty ever since in the innumerable conflicts of all kinds that have been, and still are, being carried on. There can be no peace without a cessation of this spirit and a desire for agreement. This moral applies to the great industrial conflict overhanging the country, on which Mr. Thomas maintained a significant silence. Evidently he felt the subject too delicate to mention. But it will, of course, be mentioned, though in what form it will be brought up we do not pretend to know. If the trade unions wish to avoid this fight, as we believe they do, the Congress offers a perfect opportunity of giving effect to the desire. Nothing is easier than to appoint a committee, or some representative body, to approach the Government. That would not touch the dignity of the miners in any way. They and their leaders need have nothing to do with it. If they feel that they can make no move without an appearance of surrender hurting their pride, the Congress is in no such position.

Commenting on Mr. Thomas's reference to the Council of Action, the article says:—We have not gathered before that the independence of Poland was an object of the Council of Action. If so, then they were indeed forcing an open door, for the independence of Poland is unquestionably the object of the Government too. The impression previously conveyed—unless we are wholly mistaken—was that the object in regard to Poland was to prevent our Government giving the Poles any assistance in maintaining their independence against Russian aggression. That was certainly the object of the wire-pullers who got up the Council. But let that pass. Who knows that the Council will be satisfied when those objects are attained? Mr. Thomas cannot guarantee it. Nobody can, because the Council is responsible to nobody. It is a purely arbitrary body, and if it has been used for one object, it can be used for another. The appetite for power always grows, nor are Labour leaders and Labour organisations any more exempt from this failing than other people. Mr. Thomas may mean well, but neither he nor any of his colleagues can control a thing of this kind. Carried out, it is the negation of democracy.

THE ENGINEERING DEADLOCK.

The Labour Correspondent of The Times says:—The Minister of Labour intends that there shall be no delay in appointing the court of inquiry into the dispute in the engineering trade, which, beginning with a strike of electricians at Messrs. Cammell Laird's works at Penstone, has resulted in a lock-out of members of the Electrical Trades Union employed in engineering works all over the country, and threatens to bring a large part of the engineering industry to a standstill. The constitution of the court will be announced in a day or two, and its investigation will be begun as soon as possible. This is the first time that the Minister of Labour has, on his own initiative, exercised the powers conferred upon him by Part 2 of the Industrial Courts Act, which was passed last year. The Act authorises him, where any trade dispute exists, or is apprehended, "to refer any matters appearing to him to be connected with, or relevant to, the dispute, to a court of inquiry appointed by him." Dr. Macnamara deems an inquiry desirable in order to secure for the public information "an impartial and authoritative statement" on the points at issue.

TRADES CONGRESS AND THE COAL CRISIS.

There is no indication yet, says the Special Correspondent of The Times attending the Trades Union Congress at Portsmouth yesterday, of the means by which the threatened strike of miners is to be brought before the Trades Union Congress. At the opening sessions of the Congress, held in the fine Town Hall at Portsmouth to-day, a dozen questions were discussed in a more or less perfunctory way, but the word "coal" has not been spoken.

A SILESIA PROPOSAL.

It is officially announced, cables the Berlin Correspondent of The Times, that the German Government has sent an identical Note to London, Paris, Rome, Warsaw, and the Vatican about the situation in Upper Silesia, proposing the appointment of a Commission of Inquiry consisting of representatives of the nations which did not sign the Treaty of Versailles. It is proposed that the members of the Commission should be chosen by Poland, Germany, and the Allied Great Powers.

£5,000,000 CORPORATION LOAN.

The Times gives a forecast of the next Home Corporation Loan, the prospectus of which will be published at the end of the week. As in the case of previous issues of the kind, the loan will be a composite one, five Southern towns—Brighton, Bristol, Swansea, Plymouth, and Portsmouth—having arranged to issue stock on one prospectus on identical terms. The total amount of the issue will be £5,000,000. The stock will carry 6 per cent. interest. It will be issued at 95½, and be redeemable in 1940-50.

AEROPLANE CRASHES AMONG SCHOOL CHILDREN.

An aeroplane flying low over Montrouge (Seine) yesterday afternoon crashed on the playground of a school where the children were playing, says the Paris Correspondent of The Times, and three of the children and the passenger in the machine were killed. The pilot and a fourth child were seriously injured.

THE PARIS EMBASSY.

We have reason to believe, says The Times, that Lord Hardinge, of Penshurst, now Permanent Secretary of the Foreign Office, will be appointed to the British Embassy in Paris upon Lord Derby's retirement in November.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Stock Markets re-opened quietly, but, as the feeling as to the prospects of a settlement of the Labour dispute was still quite hopeful, the tone of markets kept remarkably steady, says The Times. There were several features of interest, chief among which was the firmness of Mexican securities. Oil shares attracted a fair amount of attention, and prices advanced under the lead of Royal Dutch. South African shares also came into favour as the result of the appearance of a batch of good returns, and Industrial shares also showed a harder tendency on the more hopeful turn in the Labour situation.

POSITION IN ASIA MINOR.

According to unofficial telegrams received here regarding the military situation in Asia Minor, says a Athenns message, dated Saturday, a new offensive is apparently contemplated against Mustapha Kemal Pasha. It is pointed out, in this connection, that M. Venezelos, who has left the capital, is about to have an interview with General Paraskevopoulos.

Reuter's Agency learns from an authoritative French source that the Mayor of Kerasund, Asia Minor, on the pretext that he expected the town to be occupied by British troops, ordered the Turkish population to quit the town, and locked up all the Greek male inhabitants, with a view to exterminating them. Every evening five or six Greeks were brough out and murdered. Only by paying a ransom, amounting to £(T)300,000 was the Christian population able to buy its liberty.

ATTACK ON JAPANESE OFFICIAL.

A Tokio telegram, dated Saturday, states that Mr. R. Saito, Chief of the First Section of the Commercial Bureau of the Foreign Office, has been shot, and wounded seriously in the abdomen, by Mr. Nichiyama, an employé in the Amoy branch of the Kauakita Electric Company. Nichiyama voluntarily surrendered at the police headquarters. Mr. Saito is unconscious in hospital. The theory is that Nichiyama blamed Mr. Saito personally for delay in the settlement of a claim.

LITHUANIA AND POLAND.

CONFLICTING REPORTS.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS PROBABLE.

Reuter's Agency learns that the Lithuanians have occupied several places north of Suvalki, taking prisoners and war material from the Poles. The Lithuanian advance is progressing.

In a message dated Warsaw, Monday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—The hostilities between the Poles and the Lithuanians are virtually at an end, and peace negotiations are expected to take place without delay at Mariampol.

CAVALRY DIVISION INTERNED.

Reuter's Agency is informed that a telegram received in London on Monday from the representative in Vienna of the Western Ukrainian Republic, states that as a protest against the occupation of Eastern Galicia by the Poles, a Galician-Ukrainian cavalry division, under General Pawlanko, who has been engaged in fighting the Bolsheviks, has crossed over into Czecho-Slovakia, with the whole of its staff, horses, and ammunition. In accordance with international law the division has been interned.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

The following official military communiqué was issued in Warsaw on Sunday:—In the Northern sector, east of the line Suwalki-Augustowo, the Lithuanians have commenced military activities against our troops without any provocation on our part. Large Bolshevik bands are crossing the East Prussian frontier and Lithuania, and are joining the Bolshevik forces. Our cavalry was attacked by the Lithuanians at Sejny, and has evacuated the town. South of Wlodawa, and west of Hrubieszow, we have repelled attacks of the enemy. On the southern sector we have occupied Przemyslany, Gologry, Busk, Belz, and Tyszowce. On the rest of the front the situation remains unchanged.

Reuter's Agency learns that according to telegrams received in London, from Warsaw, Poland is ready to forego her original intention of demanding the evacuation by Lithuania, within ten days, of the Suvalki district. Meanwhile, the Polish Government is communicating to the Allies an explanation of the whole situation. The view is expressed here that the unfortunate incidents that have lately arisen are probably due to varying interpretations of the treaties.

ACTIVITY OF BOLSHEVIK BANDS.

From information which has reached the French Foreign Office, says a Paris telegram, it is estimated that the number of Bolshevik troops who have taken refuge in East Prussia amounts to 128,000. The Polish Government is not satisfied with the conditions of their internment. It is known that Bolshevik bands are roaming about at large in East Prussia, and even re-crossing the frontier, attacking Polish villages, and afterwards again taking refuge in German territory. The Bolsheviks adopted this manœuvre during the attack on the fortress of Osowiec. Armed parties of Bolsheviks are also scouring the district between the Prussian frontier and Lithuania, and some are said to have taken part in the attacks against Suwalki. The Polish Government urgently requests the Allies to intervene, and require Germany to intern the Bolsheviks according to international usage, particularly as regards disarmament, and strict confinement to internment camps.

THE POLISH DELEGATION.

A Reuter Warsaw message says:—The Minister for Foreign Affairs has sent a wireless message to the Soviet Foreign Commissary, M. Tchitcherin, requesting him to give the necessary instructions for the liberation of the members of the Polish Delegation who were arrested by the Soviet authorities, and to facilitate their return home.

PUNJAB INCIDENTS.

DISCUSSION AT INDIAN NATIONAL CONGRESS.

SIR MICHAEL O'DWYER DENOUNCED.

Telegraphing from Calcutta on Saturday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—A special session of the Indian National Congress met this afternoon, amid great enthusiasm and excitement, under the presidency of Lala Rajpat Rai. It has been specially convened to consider the recommendations of the Hunter Committee, the Turkish Peace Committee, and non-co-operation. There was a record gathering of 20,000 persons, including 5,000 elected delegates, representing all the provinces. The chief feature was the unusual number of Moslem delegates, who have come determined to support the non-co-operation programme. Some of the prominent moderate leaders were absent, but the rank and file of the party were present in large numbers.

Mr. B. Chakrabutty, Chairman of the Reception Committee, in welcoming the delegates, strongly condemned the Hunter Committee's recommendation, and criticised the House of Lords' attitude to the Dyer motion. He claimed for India independence on the lines of Egypt, and emphatically declared that the Hindus would stand by the Moslems to the last on the Khalifat movement.

Lala Rajpat Rai devoted the main portion of his address to the events in the Punjab. He said that, of all persons who had anything to do with the introduction of martial law in the Punjab, Sir Michael O'Dwyer was the chief culprit, and no man in the whole history of British rule in India had done such great disservice to the British Empire, and had brought such disgrace on the good name of the British nation as he. The root cause of all the Punjab trouble was, he declared, the Prussian conception of government which dominated the minds of so many Anglo-Indian rulers of the type of Sir Michael. It was the duty of Indians to pray for the punishment and prosecution of Sir Michael O'Dwyer. They owed it to themselves and to their women and children to seek redress for the Amritsar atrocities. If British rulers proposed to give them more security of life and property by denying them honour and liberty, they must refuse to have them. The President also urged the recall of the Viceroy. Regarding the Khalifat movement, the Hindus should be urged to give unreserved and unhesitating moral and constitutional support to the Moslems. The President did not give his opinion on the subject of non-co-operation, but left it to the Congress to decide, saying that he would abide by its decision.

The Congress meets again the day after to-morrow, when the non-co-operation programme will be discussed in open Congress.

Reuter's representative, from interviews that he has had with the leaders, gathers the impression that Congress circles generally favour the principle of non-co-operation, although there are wide differences among them as to the extent to which it should be carried out in practice.

POSITION IN SILESIA.

GERMANY AND THE PLEBISCITE.

A Berlin telegram, dated Monday, says—It is announced that the German Government has sent a Note to the Entente Powers and the Peace Conference proposing that a Commission of nationals of States not signatories of the Versailles Treaty, selected by Germany, Poland, and the Great Allied Powers, should be entrusted with the conduct of an enquiry into the acts of violence committed against the Germans in Upper Silesia. It is further announced that in this Note the German Government expressed the hope that the activity of such a Commission may go a long way to create a condition under which the plebiscite can be carried out in the spirit and the letter of the Treaty.

Reuter's Agency learns from Warsaw that the town of Kattowitz is to pay an indemnity of four million marks to the Plebiscite Commission whose offices were destroyed during the recent disturbances. It is also reported that the Germans, taking advantage of the ambiguities of the clauses of the Versailles Treaty on the subject of persons enjoying the right of voting in the various plebiscites, have organised a band of some 400,000 persons, who are being employed in various plebiscite territories according to local needs. These persons, it is said, have already voted in Slesvig against Denmark. They were then transferred to East Prussian and Vistula districts, where they voted against Poland. At present they are being directed to Upper Silesia in order to take part in the impending plebiscite, having been supplied with forged documents.

Reuter's Berlin Correspondent, telegraphing on Monday, says—A train carrying supplies, destined for French troops in Upper Silesia, the transit of which through Germany is provided for in the Peace Treaty, was "held up" on Friday in the goods railway station at Erfurt by a Control Committee set up by the railway men. The train was to have been sent on its way on Sunday. On Saturday, however, the railwaymen unloaded the contents of the train, consisting of a million rifle cartridges, and exploded the cases containing them. According to the newspapers, the action of the railwaymen is contrary to the Government's orders and may lead to complications. The Vossische Zeitung states that the Entente. The Imperial Ministry of Communication has telegraphed, ordering the dismissal of the men who took part in the detention and searching of the train, and in the destruction of the ammunition.

WORK RESUMED IN BELFAST.

MINOR SHOOTING INCIDENTS.

Writing from Belfast yesterday, our Reporter says:—A much easier feeling prevailed in Belfast to-day, and wise counsels that have been in operation during the week-end are beginning to bear good fruit. The bitter feelings which raged for ten days have toned down a great deal, and the conditions this morning were such as to give hope that good order soon may be restored.

There was a good resumption of work, generally speaking, in the various mills and factories that were closed down during the past week. Expelled workers turned up in fair numbers, and military patrols were on duty for protection purposes. These patrols were present in the disturbed areas during the morning, and also at the dinner hour, and no report of any disturbances was heard of during the forenoon.

SNIPING AT MIDNIGHT.

After midnight last night there was considerable sniping in the neighbourhood of the low markets and Short Strand, and the military were engaged for about an hour in endeavouring to discover the whereabouts of the individuals responsible for the firing. No casualties were reported as a result of the outbreak. Some shots were also heard in the York street area of the city at 8 o'clock this morning, but the snipers could not be located.

EX-NAVYMAN CHARGED WITH MURDER.

In the Belfast Custody Court to-day, Alexander Taylor, a demobilised sailor, was charged with the murder of Frederick Hobbs, in Boundary street, on the night of the 1st inst. Head Constable Donoghue gave evidence as to the arrest of the accused, and said that Taylor, when taken into custody, and told the charge, stated: "I will come with a good heart, but I am innocent of the crime." The accused, he added, lived in Dover street, and he believed that he had been in the Navy. Hobbs lived at 26 Boundary street. Mr. Graham, who appeared for the defence, said that as long as the charge remained as it was he could not apply for bail, but this man was returned for trial to the Recorder's Court on another charge, to which he had a good answer. In this case also he protested that he was absolutely innocent.

Mr. Roche, R.M., remanded the accused for a week.

BIG LIST OF CRIMINAL CASES.

Judge Matheson, K.C., opened the Belfast Recorder's Court yesterday. He referred to the riots in his address to the Grand Jury. There would be at least one hundred bills to investigate. Most of the cases arose out of the recent disturbances in the city, which he very much deplored, and most of them, so far as he had been able to ascertain, were cases of looting by parties during the disturbances. Again, there were a number of prisoners who were charged with having broken and entered premises for the purpose of looting or, in other language, stealing. There were a large number of other larcenies, and, so far as he could see, the ordinary crime that one found in a city was very much the same as at previous courts. The cases arising out of the disturbances were very numerous, and on his list there were 188 prisoners to be tried. Possibly there would be applications in regard to some of those which might reduce the list; but all the same it was a very serious list to have to face in a city like Belfast, which had always had a reputation for peace and good-will.

The collections in the Roman Catholic churches on Sunday were for the benefit of the Expelled Workers' Fund, and a very substantial addition to the resources of the fund resulted.

EMBARGO ON LINEN SHIPMENTS.

In pursuance of their notified intention, the members of the Dock, Riverside, and General Workers' Union engaged at the Belfast quays yesterday refused to handle consignments of linen goods for shipment across the water.

The dockers' action is the outcome of executive instructions to support the National Union of Clerks in the latter body's dispute with Lurgan firms for recognition and improved wages. In addition to Belfast, the embargo also affects the ports of Derry, Dundalk, Newry, and Drogheda.

The clerks have also been promised the support of the Belfast Branch of the Irish Transport Workers' Union, which deals exclusively with deep sea shipping, and the embargo has been extended to this traffic. There is a possibility that the transport workers will refuse to handle goods consigned through Dublin.

All Scottish and English ports where members of the Dockers' Union are employed have been notified of the existence of the embargo, and a danger exists that the whole of the Transport Workers' Federation may ultimately become involved.

The Belfast officials of the Dockers' Union have received numerous applications for permits, and all have been courteously declined.

THE BOYCOTT OF BELFAST.

MEETING IN SLIGO.

At a citizens' meeting in Sligo it was decided to discontinue all trade with Belfast until the expelled workers were reinstated.

Mr. Clancy, M.P., said that shopkeepers and farmers should withdraw their accounts from Belfast banks. The Protestant traders of Sligo had not raised a protest against the Belfast conduct, but it was for them now to come out in the open and state on which side they were.

Following this decision, large orders in the hands of Belfast houses have been cancelled by Sligo firms.

GALWAY COUNCILLOR'S SUGGESTION.

Our Galway Correspondent telegraphs:—A representative from a Belfast drapery firm was sent out of Galway by Irish Volunteers.

The Urban Council have called upon the organised trades to refuse to handle the goods for which he secured orders should they arrive in the city.

Mr. Connolly (Labour) suggested that they should cease to trade with local Protestants who had made no protest against the conditions in Belfast.

Dr. Walsh deprecated this attitude as an "imitation of the Northern savagery," which they should take every precaution to guard against.

FUND STARTED IN ATHLONE.

A fund for the homeless families of Belfast has been inaugurated at Athlone, and it is to be administered through the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

RESOLUTIONS OF CO. LEITRIM PROTESTANTS.

At a meeting of the Protestant inhabitants of the parish of Annaduff, which was held in Dromod resolutions were adopted protesting against outrages; calling upon the community at large to assist in preventing further crime; urging upon the Government to give an early settlement to the Irish question; asking their co-religionists in Belfast to be more kind and considerate to the Roman Catholic minority there, and testifying that no Protestant in that parish had been interfered with on account of his religion.

Co. Fermanagh.—At 10 a.m. on the 5th inst. a party of armed men disguised as soldiers entered the police barrack in Belleek, overpowered the occupants, and seized all the available arms and ammunition. The barrack was then set on fire and destroyed.

ANOTHER PREMIERS' MEETING.

A Paris telegram says:—A meeting at Aix-les-Bains between the French and Italian Premiers has been definitely fixed for Sunday next. Many well known political leaders have already arrived in the town.

SINN FEIN RAIDS FOR ARMS.

WIDE AREAS SEARCHED.

Throughout Saturday and Sunday nights armed raiders continued their searches for arms and ammunition in the northern end of the County Louth. Motor cars were used, and virtually every townland was visited. In some cases the forces of the Crown were anticipated, notably at Louth. Throughout the week-end armed soldiers and police had been engaged in collecting the guns for which permits had been obtained, and when the Sinn Fein raiders entered Dundalk almost everything had been taken. In most cases the Sinn Feiners gave a receipt for the articles taken. This receipt, which was headed in Irish "The Irish Republic," set forth the articles commandeered, and was signed by the commandant of the Louth Brigade I.R.A. Some of the raids by masked and armed men were made in Dundalk in broad daylight on Sunday. It is estimated that the Sinn Feiners have secured about 100 shotguns in the course of these raids, which were well organised and carried out with great secrecy. On Sunday morning, while Colonel C. D. Guinness, Clermont Park, was at church, thirteen armed men cycled up to his house, "held up" the servants, and took away a revolver, two toy guns, some cartridges, and a valuable telescope. The raiders put out of order a motor car which a visitor had left in the Colonel's yard. Early on Sunday morning police and military arrested two young men named Patrick Agnew, Wynne's terrace, Dundalk, and Philip Hearty, Dublin street, Dundalk, on a charge of being concerned in raids for arms. The men were taken to the military barracks, and it is understood that they will be tried by courtmartial.

WIDE AREAS COVERED IN DOWN AND ARMAGH.

Our Newry Correspondent says:—South Down and South Armagh were the scenes of extensive raids for arms on Friday night by bands of disguised and armed men. The raids, which extended over a very wide radius of country, were carried out by means of motor cars, and in the town of Newry alone were characterised by considerable audacity. At Kilkeel thirteen houses were raided, and from one of these six Ulster Volunteer rifles were taken.

DOCTOR'S RESIDENCE INVADED.

At Meigh, Co. Armagh, the residence of Dr. J. P. Kean, J.P., dispensary doctor, was visited by another party of raiders between 11 and 12 o'clock. A bullet was fired through the door, narrowly missing the doctor, who had come down to the hallway. Eventually he was obliged to open the door, owing to some of the inmates becoming hysterical, when the raiders entered and carried off a shotgun. At Warrenpoint six rifles used for hall decorative purposes were carried off from the residence of Major Petheral, late of the Cornwall Light Infantry. The raiders here also paid a visit to the garage of Mr. James Nesbitt, and took a five-seater Chambers motor car, which they used for the night and then left abandoned near Ballyholland, several miles away.

THE HAUL IN SOUTH DOWN.

Altogether twenty-four raids were successfully carried out in South Down, where the "booty" obtained comprised three revolvers, eighteen shotguns, twelve rifles, two blunderbusses, two swords, and about thirty rounds of sporting ammunition. The number of raids in South Armagh were even greater, but were not so "fruitful." It is stated that the raids were carried out by strangers, guided by local men.

Early on Saturday morning a number of masked and armed men raided houses in the townlands of Ballyrea, Navan, and Aughnacloy (Saltersgrange), near Armagh, and in each case took away a gun.

SHOT GUNS TAKEN IN COUNTY TYRONE.

Several raids for arms were made on Friday night in the Derryoghill and Drumderg districts, near Moy, Co. Tyrone, says our Dungannon Correspondent. A number of shot guns and ammunition were removed. On Sunday evening, while Robert Farquhar, farmer, Dungannon, was attending a neighbour's funeral three armed men entered the house, and took away a fowling-piece with ammunition.

POLICE AMBUSHED IN COUNTY WATERFORD.

SERGEANT SERIOUSLY WOUNDED.

With regard to the shooting of Sergeant Morgan near Kilmacthomas on Friday last, our Waterford Correspondent supplies the following: Sergeant Martin Morgan, of Lammybrien Police Station, near Kilmacthomas, Co. Waterford, and Constable Dennehy, of the same station, were ambushed on Friday evening at a place about one mile and a half from Kilmacthomas by a party of masked and armed men. Shots were exchanged, and Sergeant Morgan was seriously wounded by a revolver bullet, which entered the region of the heart. It is stated that the raiders, having captured a sum of money—the monthly pay of the men of Sergeant Morgan's station, made off, leaving the policemen to their fate. Constable Dennehy, who was cycling some distance in front of the sergeant at the time of the ambush, appears to have escaped uninjured. The injured man was conveyed to Kilmacthomas Union Hospital, where he at present lies in a very precarious condition.

Sergeant Morgan is married, and was for some time stationed in Waterford.

MILITARY LORRY ATTACKED IN COUNTY CORK.

TWO CIVILIANS KILLED.

With reference to the fatal shooting of two men near Ballyvourney, Co. Cork, on Sunday, the following statement has been issued from military Headquarters:—A military lorry, containing an armed escort, broke down yesterday (Sunday) near Ballymakera, Co. Cork, and was attacked by a large party of men. The escort drove the attackers off, one of whom was killed, and four wounded. One of the wounded has since died. There were no military casualties.

Our Macroom Correspondent telegraphs:—Intense excitement prevailed in Ballyvourney village on Sunday evening, consequent on the fatal shooting there in the afternoon, when two men, William Hegarty (30) and Michael Lynch (22), were fired on and fatally wounded. It is stated that one of the three lorries, which were going towards Ballyvourney, broke down near the Cross, a quarter of a mile from the village, and probably not very far from the scene of the recent attack on the military cyclist patrol. What happened subsequently is not clear, but it is stated that shots were fired, and that Hegarty, a native of Ballymakera, who had come along on a bicycle and dismounted, was wounded in the shoulder. He dropped his bicycle, and ran along by the fence, but he received two more bullets with fatal results. Close by was the house of Michael Lynch, two of whose sons are in the Royal Irish Constabulary, and one of whom served through the late war. Michael, the only boy at home, was having tea when he heard the firing, and rushed out to the gate leading to the road. He received bullet wounds, and died in about three hours.

THE MURDER OF POLICEMEN.

DR. HOARE AND THE EXCUSE FOR CRIME

Addressing the congregation at first Mass in Longford on Sunday, the Most Rev. Dr. Hoare said:—It is my painful duty this morning to denounce this awful murder that has occurred in the neighbouring parish of Drumlish. Up to yesterday this county and diocese were free from crime and outrage, and now they are disgraced by this violation of the Fifth Commandment—"Thou shalt not kill"—by the commission of one of the four sins that cry to Heaven for vengeance. The murder that has taken place can only bring a curse, not a blessing. When I addressed you before on this subject I took occasion to say that the only excuse offered for deeds like this was—that we were at war. We are not at war. If we were, it should be declared or waged by the public and competent authority, and not by a few individuals, and the rights in the case of war should be equal on both sides. To take away human life, as in the case before us, is clearly murder, and there is nothing to justify it. The persecutions of seven hundred and forty-eight years, cruel and disgraceful as they were; the decitful, unjust, and irritating legislation of an English Parliament, do not justify it. We must observe the law of God. We must pray to Him for relief and practical self-restraint. I appeal to you, therefore, and, through you, to the faithful of this diocese, to pray for the liberty of our country, to possess our souls in patience, to beseech God to have mercy upon the soul of this policeman, and to bring to repentance his murderers.

THE BALLAGHADERREEN CRIMES

EXODUS FROM THE TOWN.

Our Ballymote Correspondent telegraphs:—After the shootings and burnings in Ballaghaderreen last week-end, the town is now peaceful. Military are stationed in the town, and armed police parade the streets. Mr. John Dillon was in the town on the night of the burnings, and has not yet left, though there has been a pretty general exodus of townspeople, who are leaving in terror.

The Most Rev. Dr. Morrisroe, speaking in the Roman Catholic Cathedral on Sunday, condemned the shooting and the reprisals, and expressed sympathy with the relatives of the dead civilian and policeman and with the victims of the reprisals. The military have commandeered a house next door to the police barrack.

"CURFEW" ARRESTS.

This morning three persons were taken into custody under the "Curfew" regulations in Dublin

THE LORD MAYOR OF CORK.

ATTITUDE OF THE UNITED STATES.

Miss A. MacSwiney stated last night that her brother was much weaker, and Father Dominic, who left the prison at about 9 o'clock, said—"The Lord Mayor is fading away fast."

Mrs. MacSwiney remained with her husband for about three hours, and, on leaving the prison at 6.30, said—"My husband is worse than he was yesterday. He was able to talk to me for a few minutes. You can hardly imagine that he could be so bad. Our only hope now is in America, and for the American financiers to withdraw their money from English securities. Apparently Labour in England can do nothing for us."

Miss Mary MacSwiney spent some hours in the prison with her brother yesterday. She told a representative of the Press Association that the Lord Mayor's weakness was increasing. The prison doctor had suggested to his relatives that the Lord Mayor should not be allowed to speak, as it wasted his strength. She added that her brother was still conscious.

Miss Annie MacSwiney, in a telegram to Mr. Bonar Law, says—"You, and other people who elected you, are causing the death of Terence MacSwiney and his comrades, because they have a living belief in, and will die for, the ideals you pretend you fought for."

DUBLIN CORPORATION ADJOURN.

At the conclusion of the special meeting of the Dublin Corporation yesterday, and before the opening of the ordinary monthly meeting, the Lord Mayor moved:—

That this Council do now adjourn for one week as a protest against the slow murder of the Lord Mayor of Cork, which is being committed by the British Government in Brixton Jail. That the heartfelt sympathy of the citizens of Dublin be tendered to the Lady Mayoress of Cork and the MacSwiney family in these hours of desolation. That to the citizens of Cork we also express our appreciation of their giant hearted citizen, Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney, and his colleagues in Brixton and Cork Jails.

Alderman McDonagh seconded the resolution, which was passed.

APPEAL BY TRADES UNION CONGRESS.

Mr. Ben Turner, moving a vote of thanks to Mr. J. H. Thomas for his presidential address at the Trades Union Congress at Portsmouth yesterday, said that there was only one omission—a call for the release of the Lord Mayor of Cork from Brixton Prison. (Cheers.)

Mr. Thomas replied that he had made every effort to press upon the Government the need of abandoning the insane policy they were adopting. He had an interview with the Home Secretary a fortnight ago, and pointed out that there was no excuse or justification for the Government's conduct.

It was unanimously decided to send the following telegram immediately to the Government:—"This Congress, representing six and a half million organised workers, views with horror and indignation the Government's decision to allow the Lord Mayor of Cork to die. We wish to remind the Government that rebellion was first preached by those who are condemning to death others who are fighting for their country. We, in the name of the whole organised Labour movement, will hold the Government responsible for the death of the Lord Mayor of Cork, and remind them that such blind stupidity will render a reconciliation between Ireland and Britain almost impossible."

TELEGRAM TO TRADES UNION CONGRESS.

Mr. Liam de Roiste has sent the following telegram to the secretary of the Trades Union Congress, Portsmouth:—"The President of the Congress is reported as saying that the Irish people could still be made friends of England. Cease cant. No friendship possible while reign of terror in Ireland continues, while Army occupies Ireland, while munitions are exported, and independence unrecognised. No friendship possible. MacSwiney and eleven untried and unconvicted prisoners in Cork Jail die. Your June special Congress passed resolutions for the withdrawal of the armed forces and prohibition of export of munitions. What was done? Talk now useless. Act."

UNITED STATES WILL NOT INTERFERE.

A New York telegram, dated Monday, states:—Mr. Shaw, for the Secretary of State, has sent a letter to Mr. Peter MacSwiney, replying to the latter's letter requesting intervention in the case of the Lord Mayor of Cork. The reply contains the following passage:—"I beg to inform you that, from precedent established in cases of this kind, the Department find it is not in a position to make protests to the British authorities against the arrest and imprisonment of one who, like your brother, is not a citizen of the United States."

Mr. Arthur Griffith, "Acting President of the Irish Republic," has addressed a cablegram to President Wilson, stating that the Lord Mayor of Cork is dying in order to assert the right mentioned by Mr. Lloyd George in his statement of the war aims and peace conditions, in January, 1918, when he declared—"World settlement was based on the right of self-determination with the consent of the governed."

The Westmeath branch of the Comrades of the Great War has sent a telegram to the King asking for the release of the Lord Mayor of Cork as an act of clemency.

The Roscommon branch of the Discharged Soldiers' and Sailors' Federation has protested against the treatment of Mr. MacSwiney.

THE LORD MAYOR OF CORK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Is it not strange that the Lord Mayor of Cork should be allowed to die without knowing what are the wishes of his country with respect to his consenting to eat? Assuming that he is still in possession of his faculties, it would need a considerable amount of moral courage for him to change his mind while his country expects him to die; but, if he knew that Irishmen generally were of opinion that the interests of Ireland were better served by his consenting to live, he might feel at liberty to do so. Even Sinn Feiners are divided on the question whether it is the duty of a man in the Lord Mayor's position to refuse food. I suggest that the Dail Eireann, which claims to act for the whole of Ireland, should send him a message, and so, perhaps, save a life which, by all accounts, is a valuable one.—Yours, etc.,

"OBSERVER."

Dublin, September 6th, 1920.

CORK HUNGER-STRIKERS.

THREAT TO PRISON DOCTOR.

The following official communiqué was issued from the Chief Secretary's Office, Dublin, last evening:—

The Acting Medical Officer at Cork Prison has received the following threatening letter:—

"As your professional attendance upon the eleven hunger-strikers in Cork Jail gives a tinge of legality to the slow murder being perpetrated upon them, you are hereby ordered to leave the jail at once, and the country within twenty-four hours of this date—3 o'clock p.m., September 6th, 1920.

"Failure to comply with this order will incur drastic punishment.—O.C. No. 1 Brigade, I.R.A."

In view of the receipt of this letter the Government wish again to emphasise the fact that the Government alone are responsible for the continued detention of the eleven prisoners now on hunger strike. In common with his predecessors (who have been temporarily relieved from duty at the prison owing to the strain imposed by the continuous watching which the condition of the prisoners necessitates, and who have not at any time refused, as has been suggested, to continue on duty), the Acting Medical Officer on his arrival, after examining the prisoners, recommended their release on medical grounds, a recommendation which the Government were unable to accept. His responsibility is now confined solely to taking such steps as are within his competence as a medical man to relieve the condition to which the prisoners have been reduced by their refusal to take food.

TENSION IN CORK.

Our Special Correspondent, telegraphing from Cork last night, says:—Rumour has been busy all day regarding the hunger-strikers in the local prison, but there has, so far, been no confirmation of reports of their intended release. A feeling of despair over the Lord Mayor's fate is becoming gradually more pronounced. Mr. Bonar Law's letter reiterating the Prime Minister's decision not to interfere in the matter has sealed the hopes of the optimists who had convinced themselves that the Government's mind would be changed at the last moment. News of Mr. MacSwiney's condition was awaited with feverish interest throughout the day, and as each bulletin was posted outside the City Hall its purport was anxiously read by crowds of sympathisers.

The strain on the citizens has been very great for the last few days, and to-night it seems to have approached breaking point. There was much military activity to-day, when the list of prisoners was extended by the arrival of a further batch of young men from Mallow and other districts. A stampede of spectators took place as the prisoners were being escorted inside the jail, and a motor bicycle, belonging to a photographer, was seized by the escort. Crowds again assembled in the precincts of the prison, and, having recited prayers, quietly went to their homes before "Curfew" hour.

Mr. Philip Harold Barry, ex-High Sheriff of the County Cork, has sent the following wire to Mr. Lloyd George:—"I impress most strongly on you that there are eleven untried and unconvicted men dying in Cork Jail. Even Mr. Bonar Law's letter in answer to the Labour Party's appeal does not attempt to justify the detention of untried men. Issues at stake far-reaching. Inevitable results of delay disastrous. Immediate action imperative."

SPECIAL EXTRA.

FIGHTING NEAR BREST LITOVSK.

BOLSHEVIK REPORT.

A Bolshevik communiqué received at Zurich yesterday states that fighting is going on with alternating fortunes in the region of Brest-Litovsk. Violent fighting is in progress on the Sapabuy Bug. The Bolshevik troops are advancing north and south-west of Groubechov, and south of Sokal, in the region of Halica, engaging the enemy as they go forward.

LABOUR AND THE COAL STRIKE.

The Daily Chronicle, referring to the position of organised Labour on trade disputes, says:—The chance of averting the coal strike chiefly depends on the Trade Union Congress, who cannot fail to appreciate the door which has been opened wide by Sir Robert Horne's offer for conciliation and settlement.

INDUSTRIAL TROUBLE.

The Daily Telegraph says—The root trouble in the present industrial crisis is that the trouble cames only from Labour. Every Employers' Federation would be only too willing to work amicably on conciliatory lines with trade unions, but there is no reciprocal feeling on the part of Labour leaders. Conciliation is denounced as weak-kneed compromise by those leaders, and no settlement is allowed to stand for more than a few weeks after it is ratified. Hence the insincerity of the bogey of capitalist aggression.

DEMPSEY KNOCKS OUT MISKE.

A Benton Harbour message says that Dempsey yesterday knocked out Miske in the third round.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE IN SWITZERLAND.

A Lucerne telegram, dated Monday, says:—Interviewed by the Neue Zurcher Zeitung prior to his departure, Mr. Lloyd George expressed entire satisfaction with his stay on the borders of the Lake of Lucerne. In spite of pressing affairs he had found time to make a few excursions, and to have a good rest, and his health has greatly improved. The Journal admires the spontaneous and democratic simplicity of the Premier, upon whom the independence and frankness of the Swiss peasant created an excellent impression. Mr. Lloyd George also made some interesting remarks on the Swiss military system.

The paper concludes by stating that Mr. Lloyd George's stay at Lucerne has left a very favourable impression, and that the friendly relations which have so long united Switzerland and Great Britain have been strengthened.

THE ITALIAN PREMIER AND MR. LLOYD GEORGE.

Before leaving Paris for Rome Signor Giolitti, the Italian Premier, stated in an interview with an Excelsior representative that the decisions taken at the interview he had had at Lucerne with Mr. Lloyd George would in no way hamper M. Millerand. "On the other hand," he added, "we shall find other problems affecting our two countries awaiting solution at the Aix-les-Bains Conference. Still I repeat, nothing has been done which might weaken the union of the Allied Powers."

DUNDALK DOCKERS' BOYCOTT ENDED.

The Dundalk dockers' boycott of goods for England handled by Messrs. Wordie's carters came to an end yesterday, after a conference in Dundalk representing the various interests involved. Mr. Munro, the Irish manager of Wordie and Co., stated that he had in his employment 90 per cent. Roman Catholics. No one regretted more than he did the unfortunate occurrence that had recently taken place in Belfast. He believed and hoped that all employers in Belfast, to save the good name of their great city, would be only too glad to take similar action. He added that he had paid half wages to those men who were unable to work through the disturbances.

GENERAL NEWS ITEMS.

Unofficial advices from Mexico City, says a New York telegram, show that General Alvero Obregon has been elected President of Mexico.

The body of William Frost, the third victim of the boating accident in Walney Channel, Barrow, on Sunday, was recovered yesterday.

A Stockholm telegram, dated Monday, states:—Part of the Forassaa Paper Mills was burnt down last night. The damage is estimated at about £50,000.

Acting on instructions given by the Liverpool local Council of Action, the dockers at Bootle yesterday refused to handle a cargo of munitions for Poland.

The captain of the Great Central steamer Stockport, which arrived at Grimsby from Hamburg yesterday, reports having sighted on the voyage out five mines which were destroyed by rifle fire.

The War Office announces that it is prepared to grant temporary commissions in the Royal Army Medical Corps for a period of six months, for home service, to a limited number of medical men under 55.

The Queen and Princess Mary yesterday visited the Invercauld industries at Ballater, where the "Blighty" tweeds are woven by disabled sailors and soldiers. Her Majesty inspected the warehouse and weaving shop, and made purchases.

About four hundred members of the Electrical Trades Union on the Tyneside were idle yesterday when the lock-out came into effect. Steps were also taken to withdraw all foremen belonging to the union who are with federated engineering firms at Barrow.

It is announced that the steamer Ogni has arrived at Fiume with a valuable general cargo. The cargo, it is stated, was consigned to America, but at Catania a number of officers from Fiume succeeded in getting the vessel diverted.

In regard to the threatened strike of Glasgow and South Western railwaymen over the reinstatement of a Kilmarnock hammerman, everything now depends on the decision of the railway directors who meet in Glasgow to-day. The man in question has not so far been reinstated.

The statement which has been published to the effect that Mr. Scott Hindley, commercial adviser to the Coal Controller, who arrived home on the Olympic on Sunday, had been to America to purchase large coal supplies for the Government is entirely without foundation. Mr. Scott Hindley visited America on purely private grounds.

At the resumed inquest at Eastbourne yesterday on Irene Munro, the London typist, whose body was found buried in sand and shingle, the two men who are in custody were in court. Medical evidence was given that Irene Munro died of shock due to concussion of the brain, brought about by violent blows on the head. Inquest adjourned.

Sir Thomas McKenzie, who has just concluded his term of office as High Commissioner for New Zealand, left Euston yesterday en route for Toronto to represent New Zealand at the Congress of the Association of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire. Lord Desborough and other British delegates to the Congress also left.

It is announced from Washington that by an order issued by Admiral Benson the wives of captains of Government-owned vessels may now accompany their husbands on voyages. Reports to the Board indicated that, considering the bonuses offered for efficient commanders, the Government was in danger of losing the best skippers if the privilege was not granted.

In consequence of another leakage being discovered in one petrol tank of the Vickers-Vimy machine no flying took place yesterday at the Martlesham Heath aerodrome in the Air Ministry's civilian competitions for amphibian seaplanes capable of alighting and rising from the water. The Fairey seaplane arrived from Southampton, accomplishing a journey of roughly 300 miles round the coast in about two and a half hours.

A letter yesterday read to the Yarmouth War Pensions Committee announced that the Ministry of Agriculture would receive no applications from disabled men in agriculture under the Government scheme after September 30. The Ministry states that it has grave doubts whether the agricultural industry will be able to absorb more than the 4,000 disabled men already placed or approved for training, having regard to the present and prospective state of agricultural employment.

DUBLIN'S CIVIC FINANCES.

A GRAVE CRISIS.

OVER £200,000 INVOLVED.

DRASTIC REDUCTION OF SERVICES.

A special meeting of the Municipal Council of the City of Dublin was held yesterday at 11 a.m., Alderman Cosgrave, M.P., and subsequently the Lord Mayor, presiding, for the purpose of considering a letter from the City Treasurer, conveying recommendations of a conference of chairmen and deputy-chairmen of committees relative to the financial position of the Corporation.

The Chairman read the following letter, which, he stated, he had signed himself:—

MY LORD MAYOR,—The Corporation is now faced with a serious and unprecedented financial position owing to the withholding of sums payable out of Local Taxation Account towards the various services which were inaugurated solely because of this revenue. The entire sum involved exceeds £200,000. The estimates were compiled and rates struck on the assumption that this money collected on taxes for this purpose would be paid to the City Treasurer.

As the Council has now entered the sixth month of the financial year your lordship will appreciate the difficulty of effecting such economies within the remaining six months as will enable us to close our accounts in a satisfactory manner, and at the same time administer the affairs of the city in accordance with our obligations.

I have therefore requested your lordship to convene a special meeting of the Corporation to consider recommendations adopted by the chairmen and vice-chairmen of the various committees.

The Chairman added that he thought the best thing the Council could do in a matter of this sort would be to send the letter to a Committee of the Whole House to consider the recommendations and suggestions that were made to enable them to do their work for the remainder of the year.

Mr. McGrath proposed and Alderman Shields seconded that this be done.

Mr. Daly proposed that the Council go into Committee of the Whole House and adjourn its session until the conclusion of such Committee. The reason, he said, he moved this was that, after the meeting of the Committee of the Whole House, the Council could meet and ratify the business that would be done.

The Town Clerk—That the Council resolve into Committee of the Whole House and report back.

Mr. Daly—Yes.

Mr. O'Toole seconded Mr. Daly's motion, which was passed, and the Council was resolved into Committee.

DRASTIC CURTAILMENTS.

On the meeting of the Council being resumed, the acting Lord Mayor (Alderman L. O'Neill) in the chair,

The Town Clerk read the following report from the Committee of the Whole House:—

That we recommend the Council to issue instructions to the under-mentioned Committees to effect savings in the current year's expenditure to the amount set out beside their respective names:—

Paving Committee—£20,000.
Public Health—£2,200.
Lighting Committee—£15,000.
Waterworks—£10,600.
Sewers and Improvements Committee—On sewers, £4,820; ladies' lavatories accommodation, £5,000.
Housing Committee—£3,000.
Markets—£1,490.
Tuberculosis—£10,000 (on new works).
School Meals Committee—Activities to be discontinued when funds available are exhausted.
Estates and Finance Committee—£19,269.

That the Markets Committee be instructed to take immediate steps to have Smithfield Market made a paying concern.

That payment of 25 per cent. of all wages and salaries be postponed from 1st October, 1920, for a period of nine months from the date of their occurring due.

That the Tuberculosis Committee be instructed to close Crooksling Sanatorium, Charles street Dispensary, and the Allan Ryan Home, in default of public subscription to maintain same. That payments of the demands of the Dublin Union and Richmond Asylum be confined to the sums received for these institutions.

The Lord Mayor moved and Alderman Cosgrave seconded the adoption of the report.

AN AMENDMENT.

Mr. Daly moved that the report be amended by adding that the Council take steps to make representations to the British Treasury, placing before them the present intolerable financial position of the Dublin Corporation, with a view to claiming payment of all necessary moneys allocated from Irish taxation for the upkeep of Irish public services. He said that the report before the Committee of the Whole House was the most serious that had ever been before the Corporation. There was no service that had not been struck by it, and the economies the report proposed would affect the existence of the working classes. Every institution and public service would be seriously hampered—the public health service and the tuberculosis service. He had always held that they commenced to combat tuberculosis at the wrong end. At any rate they should keep the sanatoria going until they were able to begin at the right end and build healthy houses for the workers of the city. They had been clamouring for years for a better educational system, and unless they got the grant they would only have £4,000 for the upkeep of the schools of the Technical Education Committee. It was an intolerable position, and the Council should take it into their earnest consideration. They were only asking for their own money from the British Treasury, but they could not or would not pay, and the responsibility was theirs. The Council had not refused to recognise the Local Government Board; they had submitted their minutes and their accounts for audit and carried out all the enactments. They had done everything they formerly did, and there was no reason why the Treasury would not pay. The only reason they alleged was because the Council failed to levy for criminal injuries. The position in Lisburn was that it would cost £25 to the £ to meet criminal injury claims, and in Belfast it would be an enormous amount. He had it from some corporators in Belfast that they would not pay these claims. They would resist them in Lisburn and Belfast. That Council was only continuing to claim what was their right from the British Treasury—only a small proportion, as for years they were not getting their rightful portion of these grants. Unless there was some alternative proposition, he did not see why they should allow the Treasury to get out of their financial responsibility. These taxes were payable for certain purposes, and the Treasury should pay them for these purposes. If the Council spent money for any other purposes than that for which it was struck they would be surcharged. He did not see that there would be any sacrifice of principle in saying they would not allow the British Treasury to get out of their responsibilities. They had pledged their allegiance to Dail Eireann, but they should not allow people to rob them. Moneys which were the property of this country in the past were sequestrated, and they should take steps to see that the moneys that were their due were paid.

SANATORIA AND DISPENSARIES AFFECTED.

Mr. Gateley seconded Mr. Daly's amendment. He said that, as a result of the closing of Crooksling, 150 patients would be sent adrift, and what was to become of the patients at Charles street Dispensary and the Allan Ryan Dispensary? They had also appointed the Sisters of Mercy to take charge of the Pigeon House Hospital. If the report went through, was all their work and kindness for the poor to go for nothing? Then, in the union, they had to do without meat for several days. He suggested that the matter should be referred to a carefully selected committee to make representations in the right quarter, and he was sure that representation would have the desired effect.

Alderman McGarry said that, personally, he was against closing the Crooksling Sanatorium if it were possible to find a way out.

Alderman Hubbard Clark supported the amendment on the ground that it was the only method by which the Corporation could continue its existence. He believed that a considerable amount of harm had been done by delay. If action had been taken three weeks ago, they would be better off. The only member of the Corporation who had given serious consideration to the financial aspect of the situation was Alderman Cosgrave. When they passed a resolution pledging allegiance to Dail Eireann it should have been quite apparent to most of them what the ultimate outcome would be. Notwithstanding the passing of the resolution and the putting of the letter of the Local Government Board in the waste paper basket, no practical consideration had been given as to how they would carry on. There had been any amount of spectacular work carried on by Dail Eireann throughout the country.

The Lord Mayor—I am afraid, Alderman, you are treading on very dangerous ground.

Alderman Clark—No consideration was given by the majority of the Corporation as to where the money was to come from. One member only has put himself to considerable trouble along with the Lord Mayor, and tried to meet the difficulty; but, so far as I can see, we are in a hopeless position at the moment. There was no suggestion in Committee that the capital expenditure of the Corporation should be considered along with revenue. I submit that unless you can do the two together there is very little use in considering the motion before the Council. We have big undertakings, and unless they are carried on the whole finances of the Corporation must come to an end. Even with the economies you propose to adopt, it would be only landing us in further trouble, and I do not think the Committees will obey the instructions of the Council. The proposal to deduct 25 per cent. of the wages of workmen and 25 per cent. of the salaries of the officials, to be paid in twelve months' time—that proposal would make this Council the laughing-stock of the municipalities of the world.

The Lord Mayor—We have a direct amendment before the chair, and I would prefer that you would speak to it in the terms in which it has been moved.

Alderman Hubbard Clark said that in ordinary business the board of directors would find the money, but the majority of the members of the Council had forgotten to consider whether there was any other door open when they threw the Local Government Board letter in the waste-paper basket.

A GOVERNMENT DEBT.

Dr. McWalter, supporting the amendment, said that the Government owed the Council £200,000, and the amendment suggested that the Council should ask for it, while, on the other hand, it was proposed that they should skin the labourers and flay the ratepayers and allow the Government to keep the money in their pockets. They all knew that the Government was making some thirty millions a year out of this country. Mr. Daly's amendment suggested that they should endeavour to make the Government pay the £200,000 that was due to them.

Mr. Cosgrave, M.P., said that the same old story had been reiterated so much that it was getting monotonous to the members. The Council were operating under certain local conditions and discharging their services out of various finances for which they collected the money. There were two remarkable valuations at the moment—one called the improvement rate, the smallest of all the valuations, being about £1,060,000, and the other the criminal and malicious injuries rate. In April, 1919, legislation was introduced in Westminster which made the improvement rate liable for any charge under the Criminal and Malicious Injuries Act. There was no right to make such a proposition, which would make it utterly impossible to carry out the administration of any Council like that of the great City of Dublin. Events had proved that even these illegalities were not sufficiently strong, and new avenues of approach had been adopted with a view to making the funds collected for the poor, for the consumptives, for the cleansing, paving, and sweeping of the city—such funds were to be made liable to seizure on the decree of a judge of the High Court. Now it had been laid down by a High Court judge that money could not be paid out of any one fund except to the purposes for which that money was applicable. It had been suggested that the Council on their part had not exhausted every possible avenue of approach to recover from the Government the money to which they were entitled. On the 5th May last the Tuberculosis Committee wrote to the Government asking them to pay what they were entitled to for the institution at Crooksling. They were now in September, and the Auditor of the Local Government Board was examining the books of the Tuberculosis Committee, and the Government were not supplying the money. Applications had been made for money due for the soldiers, police, and judiciary, and for the rates and lighting of our premises occupied by the Government. None of these debts had been paid. It was now suggested to them that that Council, whose Lord Mayor had been made almost a permanent invalid by the Government, against whom there was a verdict of murder of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, and who had laid sacrilegious hands upon the person of a prince of the Church—it was proposed to approach that Government. Did they think if they went to a liar, a thief, a rogue, and a murderer that they were going to get what they asked from him? He (Alderman Cosgrave) had hoped and thought that the Council would agree to the report. The Corporation employes had shouldered their task like men. They were faced by a most extraordinary situation, but the Council were going to run the city with credit, and he appealed to the members to adopt the recommendations of the Committee.

THE CASES OF BELFAST AND LISBURN.

Alderman McDonagh said that it would be a distinct abandonment of principle to go with their hat in their hand to the robbers who had taken practically everything from them. They knew perfectly well that the Government would never pay them this money, and it was for them to devise ways and means to see that the money that was due to them should be paid. The cases of Belfast and Lisburn had been mentioned as similar to Dublin, but anyone who knew anything about the British Government in this country knew that some avenue would be found for these cities and they would be paid by the Government. He had seen a clause in an insurance policy that certain people would not be indemnified in connection with any disturbances for the carrying out of law and order. It was pretty evident that these disturbances had been promoted in the North by the British Government and that the Government would pay for them. They in Dublin had nailed their colours to the mast, and the Corporation had given allegiance to Dail Eireann, and it would be an abandonment of principle if they went hat in hand to the Government. With regard to what Alderman Hubbard Clark said about spectacular work, he thought Dail Eireann had at least provided the spectacle of the British Government's work in Ireland all over the world, and it had provided the spectacle in Brixton of what they were prepared to do with a Dail Eireann representative in the person of the Lord Mayor of Cork, and of what they had done to the Lord Mayor of Dublin.

SIR ANDREW BEATTIE'S VIEWS.

Sir Andrew Beattie supported the amendment, and submitted that they should do their best from an economic point of view. So far as he could see, that question had nothing to do with British politics. The British Government was being asked to pay money for a variety of things for which they had been paying for a number of years.

The Lord Mayor—Might I remind you, Sir Andrew, that they have been asked repeatedly already to do that?

Sir Andrew Beattie—I understand that there was only one letter written last May. That is a very mild way of doing business—to wait for two or three months before you ask again.

The Lord Mayor—Do you think if we ask for it that we will get it?

Sir Andrew Beattie—If I did not think so I would not be standing here. Morally and legally they are bound to give it to you. (Laughter.) Do you not know that Ireland was found to be overtaxed by over 2½ millions a year? Are we not going to ask for the things owing to us?

Alderman Cosgrave—As a matter of fact, we applied five times for £7,000 due for rates.

Mrs. McGarry said that they knew what the English Government in this country was, and that it would be futile to approach them. The minions of the Government were smashing and burning and breaking all over Ireland at the present moment, and she, for one, would not approach them.

Mr. Cassidy said that there were conditions which would have to be fulfilled if the Corporation went to the Government. They were not prepared to fulfil those conditions, because they had passed a resolution of allegiance to Dail Eireann—they could not fulfil such conditions unless their principles were so elastic as to allow them to do so. He would not be for begging from the Government what was their own.

Mr. O'Loughlin supported the amendment, urging that if the Government owed them money, they should ask for it. In the interests of their workers they should do everything possible to get the money.

THE WORKERS' BURDEN.

Mr. Kennedy said that the trades union officials who were members of the Council had been placed in a difficult position. Many Corporation employes were prepared for sacrifices, which meant semi-starvation for twelve months. Mr. Daly's amendment was supposed to be portion of the recommendation of the Committee. He supported the amendment in order to avoid seeing hundreds of workers reduced to a lower standard of existence.

Mrs. Sheehy-Skeffington said that it would be futile to go to the Government—they could not run with the hare and hunt with the hounds. It was said that no stone should be left unturned, but the only thing that could be done with this stone was to smash it with a sledge-hammer. Starvation of the women and children of Ireland had been a fixed principle since the reign of Henry II.

The Lord Mayor then put the amendment, which was defeated by 30 votes to 22.

The voting was as follows:—

For the amendment—Aldermen Hubbard Clark, Sir Andrew Beattie, Sheils, and Lawlor; Councillors Farren, James Moran, McCarthy, Michael Moran, O'Loughlin, Stritch, John Lawlor, Mrs. Wyse Power, Farrell, Bohan, White, Chase, P. T. Daly, Gateley, Dr. McWalter, Brohoon, Kennedy, and Lorcan O'Toole—22.

Against—The Lord Mayor, Aldermen McDonagh, Cosgrave, Alfred Byrne, Cahill, McGurk, and Charles Murphy; Councillors McEntire, T. F. Nolan, Rooney, Forrestal, Mrs. Sheehy-Skeffington, Clarke, Hynes, Atkins, Raul, Brennan, Mooney, Mrs. McGarry, Gordon, O Mallfhinn, John Byrne, McGrath, Doyle, Lynch, O'Connor, Medlar, J. J. Murphy, Cassidy, and Lyons—30.

Alderman O'Reilly declined to vote.

A FURTHER AMENDMENT DEFEATED.

Mr. Farren said that it was proposed to take £15,000 off the Lighting Committee. The Committee said that, if possible, they would try to reduce their expenditure by £10,000 or £11,000. He moved as an amendment that the sum to be taken off be put down at £10,000.

Mr. Brohoon seconded.

Alderman Cosgrave said that the estimate for gas this year was £14,735, as compared with an expenditure last year of £3,760. Allowing even for an increase of 33⅓ per cent., there was a possibility of a saving of £10,000. These were exceptional times, and it was not proposed to disemploy anyone.

The amendment was defeated by 32 votes to 16.

A POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. P. T. Daly submitted, on a point of order, that the Standing Orders should be suspended, and the report of the Committee read a second time.

The Lord Mayor said that the meeting was a special one to consider a letter from the City Treasurer which had been considered and sent to a Committee of the Whole House.

Alderman Cosgrave said that he was approaching some financial people to-morrow (Tuesday) in conference with some other members of the Corporation. He had explained that matter in Committee. He wanted to be in a position to explain on the morrow how they stood. It was a very delicate position. He was hoping to put down in black and white what the Corporation was committed to in making the case they had to make. If the Lord Mayor ruled with Mr. Daly, he could not accept any responsibility, in view of what he had proposed that day.

The Lord Mayor ruled against Mr. Daly on the point of order.

Mr. Daly—Do you think it is fair to me to be committed to a principle without having an opportunity of seeing if you can carry it out?

Mr. MacCarthy—There is no use in saying you cannot do this and you cannot do that. The fact of the matter is you have not got the money and you must do it. The other alternative is to go to the Local Government Board and ask for the money under certain conditions. You will not agree to the conditions, and you cannot carry on—that is all about it. I have not the slightest idea that Alderman Cosgrave will be successful in getting this money. Business people will lend money if you give proper interest and security, but in this particular case I do not think it will fructify at all. I think we should pass the report, and do the best we can in the extraordinary circumstances.

Alderman Cosgrave—The circumstances are extraordinary, but I am hopeful of getting the money, because the security is the best security on the Continent of Europe. You are giving the whole of the city estate, an unlimited rate, and the entire Corporation buildings as security for this money, and we are demonstrating here our capability to effect such economies as we can. It is unprecedented, and I admit it is not fair to ask the chairmen of committees to do it; but the unfairness is not of our doing, and the matter is so important that I would ask the Council not to delay and to let it go on.

THE REPORT ADOPTED.

The Lord Mayor put the report of the Committee of the Whole House, and declared it adopted.

THE COUNTY DOWN MURDER.

CHARGE AGAINST YOUNG GILFORD MAN.

At a special Court in Banbridge Police Barrack on Sunday evening, a young man named William Conlon, of Gilford, was charged with killing and slaying William M'Dowell, motor car proprietor, at Knocknagore, Co. Down, on 3rd September, and stealing the sum of £1,308 the property of Dunbar McMaster, Ltd., linen thread company. The accused was remanded in custody to a special Court to be held in Banbridge on Monday next.

At the inquest on the body of Mr. M'Dowell, which was held on Saturday in Gilford, a verdict was found that death was due to a bullet wound caused by a bullet of a revolver of a large type, fired by some person unknown.

The funeral of the victim took place on Sunday afternoon to Tullylish Churchyard. The Service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Orr and Rev. E. A. Miles. Dr. Orr, having referred to the shooting of Mr. McDowell, went on to say that a crime like the present one could be perpetrated in broad daylight was a sign of how far we had deteriorated. A terrible and atrocious conspiracy had been working throughout our country. There was a great and important difference between crime being punished by the State and crime being punished by the private individual. This was a distinguishing line between law and barbarism. Crime should be punished by a responsible Government, not by individuals. They had every reason to call upon His Majesty's Government to exercise their powers in the protection of life and property, and they did so. In conclusion, he made an appeal to his hearers to exercise restraint at this time.

OIL-FIRED LOCOMOTIVES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—Supplementing the letter of Mr. J. G. W. Butler in your recent issue, let me say that there are other engines in use which burn a combination of coal and oil, but the "all oil" engine has been rendered possible by the adoption of the Scarab Oil-Burning Company's system. The train from Euston to Birmingham was the first "oil express" on any British railway, and the occasion was regarded as of such significance that a large number of representatives of the Admiralty, Ministry of Transport, and other departments, as well as engineering experts of other railway companies, travelled in a special saloon next to the engine. The "oil express," inaugurating a new era in railway life, was drawn by an express locomotive which used to consume about 70lbs. of coal per mile. Now it burns only about 30lbs. of oil per mile, or 700lbs. of oil instead of one ton of coal. For some months it has been running, experimentally, on ordinary passenger service, with satisfactory results.—Yours, etc.,

WILLIAM MACARTHUR.

TRADES UNION CONGRESS.

MR. J. H. THOMAS AND IRELAND.

IRISH LABOUR AND THE GOVERNMENT.

THE QUESTION OF POLAND AND RUSSIA.

The fifty-second annual Trades Union Congress opened yesterday at Portsmouth Town Hall. There was a record attendance of 950 delegates, representing a membership of 6,505,482, an increase since last year of nearly 1,250,000. Mr. J. H. Thomas, M.P., Chairman of the Parliamentary Committee, presided. Among those present was M. Albert Thomas, the head of the International Labour Bureau of the League of Nations. There was also a strong French delegation and a delegation from Holland.

A civic welcome was extended to the delegates by the Mayor of Portsmouth (Councillor John Timpson), who expressed the hope that the deliberations of the Congress would make for industrial peace and contentment.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, in his presidential address, alluded to the industrial outlook. He said that it was black, but he felt sure that the delegates would falsify all the predictions and keep clearly in mind that they were representing the organised workers and would rise, as Labour had always risen, to a full sense of their responsibility. (Cheers.) "During the past few weeks," said Mr. Thomas, "we have come through what has, perhaps, been the most momentous period in the history of the trade unions and Labour movement—a period which found for the first time a united and determined working-class effort to challenge the existing order of Parliamentary government. This has called forth a more than usual amount of abuse and misrepresentation, both of our methods and objects. That our course of action was bold, none can deny; that it definitely challenged the Constitution, there can be no doubt. In a country such as ours, where the people possess a franchise sufficiently broad to enable them to determine their own destiny, such a change of method requires an explanation, although a precedent has already been made, both with regard to Ulster and the Curragh. Merely to justify our action on the ground of precedent is to beg the question. I feel satisfied that I speak for the whole of the movement when I say that dangerous as was our remedy, it was justified by the result." (Cheers.)

Mr. Thomas, continuing, said that it could not be denied that Labour gave organised expression to public opinion and frustrated the desires of those statesmen who would drag this country at the tail of any foreign imperialist policy, even at the cost of war. Were the situation not so serious, and the consequences so liable to be fraught with tragedy, it would be amusing to witness the attempts of their opponents to frighten the workers by the suggestion that they were the mere tools of the wicked Bolshevists, and that in their innocence they were being dragged at the tail of the wicked supporters of a Soviet system, the friends of every country but their own. Time was when such tactics would have succeeded, but not to-day.

THE COUNCIL OF ACTION.

"Our opponents know," said Mr. Thomas, "that our only object was to prevent another war with Russia. So far, we have succeeded, but the danger is not yet over, and cannot be until a complete peace and understanding is arrived at with the Russian Government. Our action regarding Russia does not carry with it an acclamation of the Soviet method of government, and many of those who advocated a Russian peace do not subscribe to the Soviet methods. We can by unity and by the exercise of our political powers determine our own form of government, and if the Russian people prefer the Soviet system it is their business. We are entitled to press our Government, regardless of any obligations to our Allies, to declare to the whole world its terms of peace with Russia. At present we can only assume that it has some terms, and we are determined to know them. The best evidence of the Council of Action's unpopularity with our opponents is the demand that it should cease to function. The answer is a simple one. It was called into being for one object only; it has no authority and, indeed, no desire to usurp or extend the clearly-defined mandate of the most representative and unanimous Congress ever held; but it is equally determined to see that the object for which it was elected—namely, the complete independence of Poland and peace with Russia, is carried out. Having done that it will be content with the result of its labours." (Cheers.)

In a reference to what he described as the guerilla war now proceeding in Mesopotamia, Mr. Thomas said that the recent news, which clearly indicated a serious state of affairs, was a great contrast to the last official announcement by Lord Curzon, that in the main all was quiet. Officers and men, and their wives and children were in a serious situation. "That we must relieve them at all costs," said Mr. Thomas, "everyone will agree, but to assume that we can conduct another South African War over half the Middle East is utterly unthinkable. We have already wasted millions that we can ill afford, and it is the Government's duty immediately to agree to the form of rule that the Arabs desire, and then get out as soon as possible. (Cheers.) We may have an idea that British rule is the most beneficent for the Arab population, but the Arabs themselves have already given abundant evidence that they neither believe in our bona fides nor want our blessing." (Cheers.)

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Some few months ago, said Mr. Thomas, a special Congress laid down a definite policy for a solution of the Irish question, a policy which, while fully recognising the claim of Ireland as a nation, and while giving adequate protection to every minority, also provided for Ireland to remain an integral part of the British Empire. These views were submitted to the Prime Minister, who, while not rejecting them, agreed to meet any section of the Irish people in a position to make a settlement. The Committee of the Congress believed that the Irish Labour movement fulfilled the requirements of the Prime Minister's stipulation, but the Irish Labour Party Executive made it clear that they did not intend to have any negotiations with the British Government. Therefore, the efforts of the Congress Committee failed. But he was pleased to note that the solution they suggested was rapidly finding favour in most unexpected quarters, and, he added, they must continue their efforts. The position in Ireland to-day was serious indeed. It was dangerous, and, sooner or later, could not fail to result in open conflict, the effects of which would shake the very foundations of the Empire. Was it too much once again to ask those who blindly assumed that because armed force might triumph it would also solve the Irish problem. The people of Ireland, deceived time after time, had been driven to excesses which no sane person could either excuse or justify, but which were the inevitable result of the policy which Britain was now pursuing. "Let the Government," said Mr. Thomas, "show its desire for peace in the one practical way which is still open to it, and drop the present bill, which has no friends, and which not only outrages the feelings of Irishmen of all sections of political thought, but also flagrantly wasted Parliamentary time. Let them realise that militarism in Ireland has failed, as it was bound to fail. You cannot dragoon a nation by the sword; you can only win their confidence by trusting them. For hundreds of years we have tried to rule the Irish people, and the position of Ireland to-day is the best proof of our failure. The mind that places a citizen who is prepared to risk all the horror of a hunger-strike and die for a cause in the same category as that of a criminal singularly fails to understand the great moral principle involved, and by blindly following such a policy adds one more to the long roll of martyrs who value liberty more than life, and renders the task of those who desire to cement the friendship of the British and Irish people far more difficult. The Irish people can still be made the friends of England. The trade union movement has given and received abundant evidence of the friendship existing between the workers of both countries. Let the Government cement that friendship with a bold and clear recognition of Dominion Home Rule."

In reference to the proposed General Council for Labour, Mr. Thomas said that it must not be looked upon as an attempt to supersede the functions of any Executive Committee, or merely as a council of war, or alternatively as a means of forcing any section of workers to accept an unfair settlement, but rather as a body ready to give assistance, and able to render to any section the full force and power of the whole. (Cheers.)

HOUSING MATTERS.

The afternoon session was devoted to a discussion of a series of miscellaneous resolutions, the first of which was one submitted by the Bookbinders and Machine Rulers declaring that the housing of the working classes at a fair rental was not possible under the system of private ownership of land and dwellings. The resolution instructed the Parliamentary Committee to oppose any increase of rent beyond 10 per cent. over the standard rent until the normal supply of houses was available, and requested them to confer with the Labour Party with a view to securing a national housing policy, such as would make the cost of land and interest on loans for all housing schemes a national charge.

Mr. C. T. Cramp, N.U.R., opposed the resolution, because he thought that the result of such a policy would be to promote the creation of slums, instead of stimulating the erection of decent houses for the working classes.

On a card vote, the resolution was carried by 2,179,000 against 1,839,000.

It was reported to the Congress that Mr. J. Sexton, M.P., had received a telegram that Bootle men had refused to load fumigating machines, marked "O.H.M.S.," and labelled "Danzig." A reply had been sent that the Transport Federation had considered all questions affecting shipments to Poland. The members of the unions concerned were recommended to release the embargo on fumigating machines, and co-operate in stopping the shipment of munitions and materials of war.

MILITARY SEARCHES IN DUBLIN.

AN ARREST.

The premises 12 and 17 Emerald square, off Cork street, Dublin, occupied, respectively, by Messrs. Frederick Mackay, junior and senior, were visited by military parties in the early hours of Sunday morning and thoroughly searched. Some papers were removed, and Mr. Mackay, junior, was arrested.

A military party made a search of the premises 77 Mespil road yesterday, and took Edward Dempsey and John Gorey into custody. It is understood that a parcel was removed.

MILITARY EQUIPMENT DESTROYED.

TRAIN INTERCEPTED BY ARMED MEN.

Our Castlerea Correspondent telegraphs:—On Saturday night the 9 o'clock goods train was stopped at Ballymoe Railway Station by one hundred armed men. At Castlerea there had been three fish waggons attached to the train, which contained equipment belonging to the 9th Lancers. When the train arrived at Ballymoe, four miles distance, the raiders held it up, and detached the three waggons containing the military equipment. The raiders then removed the contents of the waggons, which consisted of saddles, bridles, bicycles, etc., to the railway yard. Petrol was then poured on them, and they were set alight and destroyed.

BOYCOTT OF POLICE IN KING'S COUNTY.

NATIONAL TEACHERS' RESIDENCE WRECKED.

The national school teachers' residence at Kilclonfert, near Philipstown, has been rendered uninhabitable with a view to preventing the teachers from occupying it. The teachers, two sisters, married two members of the Royal Irish Constabulary, and it is alleged that it was partly because of this that they got unpopular in the district. The children from the locality were not allowed to attend the school. In consequence of this boycott the school was closed. Late at night recently a motor car drove up to the teachers' residence, which is adjacent to the school, and the work of destruction was commenced. The doors and windows were carried away, even the covering of the "skylight" on the roof being removed.

Charged with drawing turf to the police, a resident of Philipstown district was arrested by the Volunteers, and ordered not to visit the town for three months.

THE MURDER OF MR. SWANZY.

A FURTHER ARREST.

A young man named James Tipping, of Edward street, Lurgan, has been arrested on the charge of the murder of District Inspector Swanzy. He was remanded yesterday morning.

MYSTERIOUS DROWNING CASE IN CORK.

BODY TIED TO CART.

A horrifying discovery was made on Saturday on the seashore some miles beyond Cloyne, Co. Cork, at an exceptionally low tide. A country cart was observed far out on the strand, and when some men went to salve it they found a dead body tied to the axle-tree by the arms and legs, wire ropes having been used for the purpose. The vehicle was brought ashore, the remains removed and the Constabulary of the district summoned. The police found the remains so far decomposed that identification was impossible, as the body must have been immersed for a considerable time.

UNIDENTIFIED BODY INTERRED IN MIDLETON.

Our Midleton Correspondent states:—A body, supposed to be that of the unknown man who was found on Ballybrannagan Strand, seven miles from Midleton, was brought into Midleton Workhouse in an ambulance requisitioned by the relieving officer at Cloyne after ten o'clock on Saturday night. The body was buried yesterday in the workhouse cemetery outside the town. The identity of the body was not disclosed.

DERRY CIVILIAN FIRED ON DURING "CURFEW" HOURS.

When a military patrol enforcing the "Curfew" Order in Londonderry on Sunday night arrived in Nelson street a civilian named John Travers, aged 26 years, was seen passing along. One of the patrol called upon him to halt. Ignoring the challenge, Travers commenced running. The soldiers started in pursuit and again called upon him to stop. Again Travers failed to answer, with the result that the leader of the patrol fired. Travers fell immediately, wounded in the hip. The Fire Brigade Ambulance was then summoned, and Travers was conveyed to the infirmary, where it was ascertained the shot had penetrated deeply.

M. MILLERAND AND TREATY RIGHTS.

A Reuter telegram, dated Metz, Monday, says—M. Millerand went to the cemetery this morning, and laid wreaths on the graves of the soldiers who fell in 1870. Replying to an address of welcome by the Mayor, at the Hotel de Ville, M. Millerand said—France is determined to ensure respect for the rights she holds under the Treaty, for herself and for all, in full agreement with her Allies. France holds, in accordance with the words of her Italian and English friends at Lucerne, that the Treaty ought to be executed with moderation by the conquerors, but with loyalty by the vanquished. We intend that all countries that have been liberated and restored to themselves shall be maintained in the position of liberty and independence that has been given back to them, and will never more be taken from them.

DUBLIN TECHNICAL TEACHERS.

OATH OF ALLEGIANCE AND APPOINTMENTS.

A meeting of the City of Dublin Municipal Technical Teachers' Association was held at Conarchy's Hotel, Rutland square, last night, to consider, among other matters, the following decision received from the Ministry of Dail Eireann:—"The Ministry, having considered the agreed report submitted by the Assistant Minister for Local Government, decided that the order of the Technical Committee be upheld in respect of all persons who have taken the Oath of Allegiance to the King of England."

Mr. T. Tomlinson presided.

Mrs. Mulcahy, reviewing the circumstances which led to the calling of that meeting, explained that the decision of the Technical Instruction Committee of the Dublin Corporation, that those who took the oath of allegiance to the British King should be dismissed was upheld by the Ministry of Dail Eireann. They had had a meeting of the Teachers' Committee since then, and they were informed that all those affected by the decision were prepared to stand by the decision of the Ministry of Dail Eireann, and she thought that that showed the Irishmen they were to accept it. (Applause.) They then decided that they should meet and put their original resolution, that they would not go back to the technical school unless all were taken back except as modified by the decision of Dail Eireann; and that if any one were affected they would not go back. They then found that one member who had not taken the oath of allegiance had been notified that he had not been reappointed, and so far as they could see there was no reason for this as all the terms of the Committee had been fulfilled in his case. They also had information that evening that one member at least who had taken the oath of allegiance had been reappointed in the technical schools. Their Committee felt that they could not give in to the decision of the Ministry of Dail Eireann until this matter had been investigated.

Mrs. Sheehy Skeffington said that she was present at the Technical Instruction Committee when the resolution was passed, and she wished to say that the Technical Instruction Committee carefully cooked and changed the wording of that resolution. The original wording of the resolution very clearly disqualified all civil servants who had taken the oath of allegiance, and that was not confined to educational or other subjects.

The Chairman said that one teacher who had been notified that he had not being reappointed had been put out simply to make a job for somebody else, and that they could not stand, because what was that man's case to-day might be any of theirs to-morrow. The Technical Instruction Committee would have to stand by the decision of the Ministry of Dail Eireann and by nothing else.

Mr. Latchford, a teacher in the technical schools, who said that he had not been reappointed, mentioned that he had been a member of the Typographical Association for 29 years, and he understood that the objection to him was that he was said to be an Orangeman.

Mrs. Sheehy Skeffington—And a Protestant.

Mr. Latchford said that he was proud to say that he was a Protestant, but he was not an Orangeman and knew nothing whatever about their teachings. He was the only one in the City of Dublin holding the City and Guild certificate, and he had been for nearly 17 years teaching in the technical schools.

Mrs. Sheehy Skeffington said that she did not think the Technical Instruction Committee collectively would victimise anyone, but she had heard allegations against individuals.

Mr. Taylor said that the civil servants affected had agreed to withdraw from the technical schools as a matter of public policy, and sacrifice themselves to abide by the decision of the Dail Ministry.

Mrs. Sheehy Skeffington proposed that a delegation be appointed to wait on the Ministry of Dail Eireann in order to lay before them the new situation that had arisen in regard to civil servants and the oath of allegiance. She said that the whole situation had now been shown up in quite a different light, and she fully agreed that the appointment of one civil servant, or possibly more, who had taken the oath of allegiance was a deliberate flouting by the Technical Instruction Committee of its own resolution and the decision of Dail Eireann.

Miss Murphy seconded the resolution, which was passed.

The appointment of delegates was left to the Committee of the Association.

The proceedings afterwards ended.

The Clyde platers' helpers were on strike yesterday, with the exception of Yarrow's and MacMillan's yards, Scotstoun and Dumbarton, to enforce wages demand in connection with the recent industrial award. The helpers are paid by the platers, and if the two factions fail to arrange matters before Wednesday the Clyde shipbuilders, acting on instructions from the Employers' Federation, will post lock-out notices. Twelve hundred platers and three thousand helpers are idle. The lock-out will affect about nine thousand altogether.

At last, after a long period of shortage, Lotus and Delta boots and shoes for women are now in free though not yet in full supply.

The shops appointed to sell them are no longer rationed, so now they can obtain from the factory all the stock with the exception of a few pairs, that they and their customers want.

The exceptions are big and little outsizes, twos and eights, and what are known as wide fittings.

But in normal or regular sizes and fittings, such as fit nine women out of ten most comfortably, there is now ample supply.

There is a good choice too in lace and buckle shoes and some boots also for autumn and winter wear.

Remember that there never has been any profiteering with Lotus and Delta and that the price, branded on the soles, always is the actual cost of manufacture plus only a moderate profit for makers and sellers.

PLACE NAMES.

STRATFORD-ATTE-BOWE.

To the ancient Celt, writes "I. C." in the Glasgow Herald, the ancient river name of the Clyde stands for strength, that is the Gaelic meaning—"Clith." We know not what Celt, with the seer soul of his race, named the river; we know that it was no arbitrary sound, devoid of meaning. Looking at the strong, powerful river, we of to-day are fain to confess that our fore-folk named it well "the Strong." Huddled shipyards, loaded quays, the throb and beat of hammers, and above all the "homing steamer" making the Clyde up with some shining spot in our imagination, kindling our fancies, and making our feet itch for the road, the strong road, the road of the river and the sea! That, and a whole world more, are all wrapped up in this name. It is a curious fact that names of Celtic origin have changed but little since their first god-parents coined them. Sometimes, as in the case of the Clyde, it is a Celtic name; sometimes it is the name with an adjective prefixed, as Glasdur, "grey water"; Calder, or "winding water"; Derwent, which is probably "clear water," and so on.

Before the Romans came to teach us how to build roads, rivers were our only means of communication with our fellow-men. Next to a strong river, then, we needed a swift river, a fleet stream. In one of the newspapers of to-day the editor heads his weekly letter with these words, "Fleetway House, above the hidden waters of the ancient river Fleet, the cradle of the journalism of the world." The strange thing about this river is that its name abides while it has vanished. It has left us such names as Fleet street, Fleetway, The Fleet Prison, Fleetgate, Floodgate, Ludgate. It supplied London with water, and was also one of its boundaries. Between "the two Temple gates in Fleet street" lived a goldsmith named Ffoulkes, who carried on business in the days of the Second Charles, and who has left what is probably the oldest British cheque known, treasured to-day in the museum of the Institute of Bankers, but the Fleet is gone! Once it was a fleet, swift river flowing hurriedly between its banks, joining hands with another vanished stream, the Holborn, and forming a waterway for barges as far up as Seacoal lane and Newcastle lane. Its name came to us from the Anglo-Saxon verb "fleotan," to float or swim, and is to be traced in various names such as Purfleet, Northfleet, Ebbfleet, etc.

Quiller Couch tells in one of his delightful studies of an old legend. "I think in Suetonius, who to be sure had a nasty mind, it is stated that Cæsar first invaded Britain for the sake of its oysters." Be this as it may, there is no doubt that rivers were valuable for what was found in their waters. There may be something in the old tale that the seamen of Alexander the Great came to Scotland in search of salmon and oysters. The Lossie derives its name from "lax," a salmon. Ptolemy's geography gives the name as Loxa, and we find variants of the name in such words as Leamlox, "the salmon's leap" Laxay, "the salmon stream," and Laxford, "the salmon ford."

There is another river which has a strange tale to tell—the Findhorn. Here is how its name was once explained, and is a good example how a beautiful name can be cruelly slandered. "You want to know what it means," a local authority asked. "Well, once, when David the King (somewhat vague about his number, but no matter!) was building Kinloss Abbey he lost his way in the forest of Darnaway. He was found and taken home to his wife, who, sadly annoyed with her careless lord, had a silver horn made for him. He was to blow this when he lost his way again, and someone would run to his aid. A careless monarch, this David, as well as a 'sair saint for the crown'—he next lost his horn! He seemed to have a wholesome dread of his wife's quite justifiable wrath, for he sent messengers scouring through the land to find the horn. It was found on the banks of the river, which was henceforth known as Findhorn." A pleasing tale! One regrets that one cannot believe it. The river-name is one of those which are made up of two words, an adjective and a noun. "Fion" means white, and "erne," or "eren," comes from the same root as Erin, Ireland, and is supposed to be the name of a pagan goddess Eire. Findhorn, then, means 'White water,' a beautiful name.

Stratford-le-Bow is another interesting name, and an example of how different conquerors have left evidence of their occupation. The 'le' in the middle of the word is all that remains of the river name the Lea. A dangerous ford crossed it in Saxon days. This in time came to be replaced by a bow or arched bridge built by Matilda, Queen of Henry I. So in Street-ford Lea-Bow we have preserved for us a whole page of interesting history.

And there are those of us who only think of this quaint old name as being the place where Chaucer's prioress got her education!

"And French she spak ful faire and fetisly,
After the scole of Stratford atte Bowe."

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

QUIET AND DULL DAY.

Yesterday was another disappointing day on 'Change, involving few orders and often adverse alterations, owing to the many disturbing elements in social and political circles quite outside the holiday influences of the present time, which keep a number of possible investors out of the market. The Funds were idle and dull, with War Loan 5 p.c. again lower. Banks were steady, but Dublin Distillers shares continue under sale pressure and slipped back further. Guinness steadied a little. Marconis were quiet. Home Rails marked time in an idle market. Dublin Tram Pref. were still bid for. Dunlops and Drapery shares were easier. Textiles looked on rather firmer ground, while Tobacco and Oil shares improved.

The Funds were more or less neglected, and the only change was a fall of ⅛ to 84½ in War Loan 5 p.c., but the Deed Stock for an odd lot rose 1/16 to 84⅝.

In Banks, Provincial Old repeated 19½. Nationals closed wanted at 15⅞, the last price.

In Marconis, the Ord. were 3d. lower at 56s. 6d.

Home Rails were almost neglected. Great Northern repeated 54½, but a small lot of Dublin and South Eastern Pref. was picked up at 30½, or ½ under previous price.

In Trams, Dublin United Pref. rallied a further ¼ to 7⅛. Nothing else quoted.

Among Dunlops, Parent Tyre Deferred fell 6d. to 59s. 6d., and the Pref. repeated 13s. 9d. Dunlop Rubber eased 1/16 to 7 3/16.

Drapery shares were still on offer. Switzer Ord. eased 2s. 6d. to 92s. 6d. Crowe Wilson Ord. (new) closed sellers at 20s.. Arnott Ord. repeated 5⅞.

Among Manufacturing shares, Textiles were in some request. Coats rose 9d. to 53s. 3d., and Cottons 3d. to 38s. 6d. Calicos closed steady at 25s. 10½d. Helys Pref. fell 3d. to 14s. 9d., and Condensed Milk Debs. 1/16 to 6¼.

In Miscellaneous, Irish Times 2nd Pref. eased 3d. to 13s. 6d.

Other business done was limited, but Imperial Tobacco rose 6d. to 47s. 6d., and Shell Transports 1/16 to 7¼.

BETTER STOCKS.

THE WEEK BEGINS WITH A MORE CONFIDENT TONE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The surprising thing about markets yesterday was that they experienced something of an uplift. It was not a mere spasm, but a real improvement in tone, accompanied by unmistakable signs of activity, just for all the world as if the unhelpful Labour situation had been temporarily obscured. Brokers owned to a moderate expansion in the volume of business, and there were other indications of less disinclination on the part of the public to enter upon Stock Exchange transactions than was the case last week. The "House" exuded optimism so far as the coal outlook is concerned. The great majority of members refuse to believe that Mr. Smillie will execute his threat and call the miners out unless their full demands are conceded. No notice was taken of the talk of dearer money in Lombard street. Business was rather meagre in the gilt-edged section, and prices were sticky, except for one or two National War Bonds. The tendency, however, was in the upward direction, though quotations were rarely affected. Naturally, uncertainty regarding the Labour outlook did not help Home Rails. On the other hand, it had no depressing effect, and consequently the market was idle. Foreign Rails developed some activity, all the representative Argentine issues being lifted on a cessation of the recent liquidation and a little buying by investors on dividend prospects. Foreign Bonds were active, and the greatest enthusiasm was displayed in the Mexican section, where several substantial advances occurred on the message announcing the election of Senor Obregon by a decisive majority. The new President is a millionaire, and it is no small recommendation to habitues of Throgmorton street that he wants to see Mexico prosperous, and to entice foreign investors into the country.

LONDON STOCKS STEADY.

On the whole, the Stock Exchange started the week auspiciously. Business accumulations during the week-end were rather in excess of the recent week-end average, and the attendance steadily improves as the holiday season wanes. There was less disposition to discuss the coal labour position, which was judged to have further improved. The bargain hunters are more in evidence in the principal departments than for some time past. It was thought that the conclusion of definite arrangements for meeting the French portion of the Anglo-French Loan to America would react favourably upon the whole financial situation, and this assisted the undertone of the gilt-edged market. The War Loans were all unchanged. Miscellaneous gilt-edged issues were slow and hesitating. A little buying was sufficient to keep the majority of Colonial Loans hard. New scrips ruled steady to dull, without feature.

FOREIGN BONDS IDLE.—In the Foreign market the volume of business was still attenuated. French Loans were inclined to sag, despite the steadiness of the French exchange. The Fives lost ½ at 46½, but the Fours held around 37. Belgian Threes held the advance to 53. Chinese issues held steady. Among South Americans, Mexican Loans were in demand, the inquiry being partially ascribed to American sources. The 6 p.c. were up to 59½, and the External Loan at 51 was also better.

Changes—Rises: Argentine 5 p.c. (1907), 1 to 83; Japan 4½ p.c., ½ to 101½; Mexican 5 p.c., 1 to 51. Falls: French Loan, ½ to 46½; German Threes, ¼ to 7⅞; Russian Fives, 1 to 26½.

HOME RAILS BETTER TONE.—The gradual improvement in the coal labour position reacted helpfully upon the Home Railway market, and, though business in this department was not large, quotations were steady. Stock is scarce in this department, and an improvement in the demand might well result, for a definite coal settlement would undoubtedly be followed by a general levelling up of values. Prices were generally unchanged. Scotch Stocks were slow, but steady.

CANADIANS AND MEXICANS MAINTAINED.—"Canpacs" were unchanged at 168, the high exchange value of the dollar still being a stimulus. Grand Trunks were slow. Mexican Rails, closing under best, were unaltered. Argentine Rails turned hesitating after an improvement, but held occasionally gains of ⅛ to ½. Leopoldinas worked forward to 55, and United of Havana were supported at 84½.

Changes—Rises: B.A. Great Southern, ½ to 71; B.A. Pacific, ½ to 58; B.A. Western, ½ to 71½; United Havana, ½ to 84½.

INDUSTRIALS FAIRLY FIRM.

BUSINESS RESTRICTED.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

There was little alteration to be found in general conditions when the Miscellaneous and Industrial market opened yesterday morning. Prices held fairly general at the levels at which they closed at the end of last week, though lack of support accounted for a number of nominal declines.

In the Iron and Steel section yesterday was pre-eminently a waiting period, the ultimate decision of the coal question continuing the principal influence in the market. Pending more tangible news prices were at best slightly firmer and in general merely steady. Vickers set a good example at 23s. 6d., or 3d. harder, and Armstrongs were a firm market at the increased price of 25s. 9d. Ebbw Vale were a bright spot at 26s., or 6d. better, and Bengal fluctuated narrowly about 1 11/16 to the figure. Swan Hunter were offered at 40s., but Palmer's Shipbuilding were firm at 24s. 6d., and Pease and Partners at 32s. 6d. Among coal stocks there was no change, Powell Duffryn retaining the price at 1 11/16 x.d. and Wm. Cory at 2 1/16. Gas stocks were steady and unchanged. The Textile market showed little change from the conditions ruling at the close of the previous business day. Transactions were in negligible proportions, and changes were few. Courtaulds at 6⅛ were 1/16 easier. Spinners were firm at 2½, and Amalgamated Cottons were in quiet request, though finishing unchanged at 1 5/16. Bradford Dyers were a bright spot, with an improvement of 1/16 at 2¼ x.d., and British Cellulose were a good market at 17s. 6d. Support reported to emanate largely from abroad was still noticeably forthcoming for Alianza Nitrate, which advanced 1 to 23. Elsewhere the Nitrate section was dull without much inquiry. Shipping securities were dull, business being at a standstill. Banks were generally firm, with Bank of N. Zealand ½ up at 26½, and L.C.W. and Parrs ⅛ better at 13⅜. Exceptionally Chartered of India eased ½ to 75. The better exchange position continues to exercise a good effect upon most Canadian American securities. Spanish River Pulp Common put on 5 at 144, and the Pref. 155½. Brazilian Tractions were unchanged at 47½, and Dominion Steel were quoted 72 x.d. Among Miscellaneous descriptions, Dunlops were off colour when tested by a little business, but the amount of stock changing hands was smaller. The shares closed easier at 7. Cements kept firm at 25s. 6d., or a fraction harder. British Portlands rose 1s. to 31s. Oilcakes were in quiet demand, finishing 3d. to the good at 38s. 3d. x.d., but Welsbach Ordinary eased 1/16 to 1 1/16, and Roneos 1/16 to 42s. 9d. Pyrotan Leather were not so good at 5s. 6d., and among Motors Leyland lost 9d. at 14s. 6d., Rolls Royce closing harder at 1 1/16. The welcome improvement in the demand for Tobacco issues was continued. Imperials advanced 6d. to 47s. 6d. x.d. B.A.T. added 1/16 to their gradual recovery at 3 13/16. A. Baker were a good market at 23s. 6d. Godfrey Phillips and United Tobacco were steady at par and 4⅜ respectively. Cables and Telegraphs showed little change, Anglo-American Pref. and Def. closing harder for choice at 79½ and 17⅞ respectively. Marconis were harder at 2 13/16 in the Wireless group, other issues being maintained. Trusts exhibited very few movements, but Railway Share Trust Ord. eased to 54, the Pref. remaining unchanged at 98½.

OIL SHARES STRONG AND ACTIVE.

PUBLIC INTEREST IN THE MARKET.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

From the point of view of strength and activity, the Oil share market yesterday was by far the most prominent of the speculative departments of the Stock Exchange. A welcome feature was an increase of public interest, buying orders on a fair scale having accumulated over the week-end. The business showed a marked discrimination in favour of the better class descriptions, and the renewed public buying may be taken as an indication that the view generally held by investors and speculators alike is that the Oil share market is the least likely to be affected by unfavourable developments in the Labour situation. The market opened in quite good form, and, in response to the demand which was found to exist, prices went ahead rapidly. There was a lull about midday, when prices showed a tendency to ease, but this proved to be only temporary, for renewed strength developed in the afternoon, and closing prices were practically the best of the day, while considerable activity was witnessed in the street dealings. The most favoured share among the leaders was Mexican Eagle, in which there was a large turnover, both on behalf of the public and also the professional operators, and, as a result of the day's business, important gains were marked in the Common, New, and Pref. Shells were also a strong spot throughout the day, finishing appreciably higher, and Royal Dutch continued the subject of a keen demand, and enjoyed a sharp spurt. Burmah Oils, which have been a quiet market of late, came into request, and made a good recovery, the buying of these shares being induced by the recent developments of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, in which Burmah Oil Company is largely interested. Lively dealings were again in progress in Indo-Burmas, which, in response to further buying in anticipation of an early announcement in regard to the reported good developments, spurted sharply. Assam Oils were also a better market. The best spot among Trinidad issues were Centrals, which were well bought, and moved up smartly, while United British of Trinidad also improved. Trinidad Leaseholds were unaffected by the announcement of the production figures for the past month, the output being 14,450 tons, as against 12,700 tons for July. The Lobitos Oilfields' production for the past month is satisfactory, and the shares advanced, and Kern Rivers met with buyers and improved. In other directions an outstanding feature was the strength displayed by Premier Oils, active bidding for which lifted the price appreciably. Closing prices:—

MINING SHARES GOOD.

IMPROVED AUGUST PROFITS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

With the outlook in both the political and industrial world regarded more favourably, business was resumed in the Stock Exchange yesterday under encouraging conditions, and values in many directions had an upward trend. The Mining markets were almost buoyant, thanks to the operation of several strengthening influences. In the first place, public interest in Kaffirs would seem to have been aroused over the week-end, for orders were on a larger scale than for some time previously. Then, too, the price of gold was better at £5 15s. 6d. per oz., while last, but not least, the excellent character of the returns from the mines for August induced a good deal of shop support for the leading counters. The tale of outputs was not complete, but a very instructive pointer is provided by the following comparison of the estimated working profits of some of the leading mines for August with those for the preceding month:—

	July.		August.
City Deep	£53,000	...	£73,000
Consol. Langlaagte	£12,000	...	£18,000
Crown Mines	£83,000	...	£97,000
East Rand	£8,000	...	£38,000
Government Mines	£134,000	...	£140,000
Knights	£12,000	...	£15,000
Langlaagte Estates	£17,000	...	£20,000
Modderfontein	£135,000	...	£152,000
Modder "B"	£73,000	...	£91,000
Randfontein Central	£6,000	...	£20,000
Van Ryn Deep	£76,000	...	£88,000

The price of gold is taken at about £5 12s. 6d. per oz. in the latest returns, as against £5 5s. per oz. for July; but, even so, in view of the above figures it was hardly to be wondered at that buyers came forward more freely. Paris was also less pessimistically inclined, the majority of changes on the day were in favour of holders, some of them substantially so. Rand Mines, Central Mining, Randfontein, and "Johnnies" were affected by the group results, and East Rand and Randfontein Central on their individual showings, while the rank and file to a considerable extent followed the lead thus given, and the tone at the close was quite strong. Rhodesians were not quite so lively as during the closing days of last week, being rather overshadowed by the improvement in the sister department, but Chartered came in for renewed attention and went ahead. That the Paris market was not quite sure of itself was evident from the fact that Diamonds received no support, and, as buyers here were indifferent, De Beers Def. suffered a set-back. With the price of tin £1 lower at £266 5s. per ton, the share market received a little unwelcome attention, and attempts to sell caused a lowering of values here and there, the only exception being Aramayo Francke, which went ahead. West African Gold shares were neglected, but there was still an unostentatious inquiry for some of the Barriers, and Props. and Norths appreciated. Otherwise Australians were neglected. Tintos and Arizona Copper, in the Copper list, were better, and among Miscellaneous descriptions a sharp improvement since Friday in the price of silver to 5s. 0½d. per oz. brought in buyers of some of the Mexican issues. Burmahs and Bawdwin fell away, but British Platinum were in modest request.

RUBBER SHARES FLAT.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The Rubber share market was very flat yesterday, and there was a further decrease in the price of the raw material at 1s. 8½d. per lb. Prices generally were affected in consequence of this fact. There were some good rises, however, for Nordanal rose 1s. 3d. to 22s., and Tamiang 1s. 4½d. to 44s. 6d. Tali Ayer rose 10½d. to 31s. 10½d. Among the falls that may be noted are 3s. 1½d. in Batu Caves to 33s. 1½d., of 1s. 9d. in Kuala Lumpur at 70s. 9d. Ledbury also declined 1s. 10½d. to 53s. 9d. Linggi was 1s. 3d. down at 53s. 9d. Malacca Debs marked a rise of ½ at 92½. There were many other similar changes.

FAITH AND ORDER.

The World Conference on Faith and Order, which met recently at Geneva under the chairmanship of Bishop Brent, of America, has unanimously passed the following resolution on the League of Nations, and has forwarded it to all National Governments:—

"The preliminary World Conference on Faith and Order, assembled in Geneva, representing eighty Churches and forty countries, rejoices in the formation of the League of Nations for the prevention of war and the protection of small nationalities. It earnestly desires that those nations which are not yet within the League will soon become admitted members of it. Whilst recognising the existence of difficulties, the Conference believes that they are not insurmountable, inasmuch as the ideal, for the realisation of which the League has been formed, is in accordance with the will of God revealed in Christ. The Conference urges ministers of all the Churches to impress upon their people the duty of promoting in every way the objects of the League and of praying that divine wisdom may guide its operations, and that the Holy Spirit may so influence the hearts of rulers and peoples that disputes between the nations may be peaceably settled, and that the time may be hastened when wars shall cease."

This conference was a gathering of very considerable international importance, representing as it did some forty countries and practically every existing Christian denomination. It was attended by delegates of great weight and importance in their respective Churches and countries. Those who attended on behalf of the Church of England included Bishop Gore, the Bishop of Willochra, Australia, the Bishop of St. Johns (Kaffraria), the Bishop of Bombay, and Bishop Cecil, of Tokyo. Mr. Nightingale, Secretary of the National Council of Evangelical Free Churches, attended on their behalf, and the Rev. Dr. Anderson Scott and the Rev. Dr. Alexander Ramsey represented the Presbyterian Church.

A boating accident occurred in Walney Channel, Barrow, on Sunday, by which two men, named William Frost, ironworker, and Felix Dullerton, wireworker, were drowned. The deceased went out fishing in a small yacht, which apparently was caught in a squall. The bodies were recovered. A search is being continued, as it is feared that the son of one of the above has also perished.

Immaculate carpets are safe playgrounds for the children. Cleaning with brush and dust-pan will not suffice, if childhood's health is to be protected.

Only The Hoover performs the three essentials of sanitary cleaning. Electrically and indoors, it beats out embedded dirt and germs, sweeps up all clinging fluff, and suctions away all surface litter.

Hoover accessories also provide a method for air-cleaning upholstered furniture, draperies, etc. If you have electric light, you can use The Hoover. It attaches to wall-plug or lamp-socket, and made for every standard voltage from 32 to 250.

Write to-day for illustrated booklet describing the wonderfully easy Hoover way of keeping homes clean.
